'Biggest And Best In Years'

SAUGERTIES

Close to 20,000 persons braved suffocating heat and strength-sapping humidity Thursday as the Saugerties Jaycees pulled out all the stops to help America celebrate her 198th birthday.

Thursday's non-stop celebration was one of the biggest and best in recent years. Even the oppressive heat 'was a welcome touch after back-to-back years of rain-drenched Independence Day festivities.

The crowds started pouring into Saugeries early Thursday morning. At 10 a.m., the first units of a huge 10-division parade began the long and colorful march down Main Street.

From there, the action move to Cantine Field, and an afternoon of games, contests, exhibitions, entertainment and refreshments.

Two of Thursday's most popular events were the the dazzling high-wire display by Los Obandos and a sky-diving exhibition by the Sport Parachute Team from the U.S. Military Academy at West Point. In the latter event, 10 jumpers took the big step above Cantine Field; nine hit their marks perfectly. The tenth landed in nearby Memorial Field, only slightly chagrined.

As the afternoon wore on, the crowds at Cantine Field started to thin out; bedraggled spectators and participants apparently heading for cooler areas.

But most of them returned at sunset. Cantine Field was packed when the first fiery rockets signaled the start of a thunderous fireworks display that emblazoned the sky in a rainbow of exploding colors.

The fireworks could be seen for miles around. It has become traditional for residents from Red Hook to Woodstock to view the spectacular display from unobstructed hilltops and roadsides throughout the area.

Cliff Harris, general chairman of this year's Saugerties extravaganza, said the day's activities went along "without a hitch." He added, "It was one of the most successful programs we've ever had. It was nice to have a sunny day for a change, even if it was a little warm."

Although Harris said it is impossible to take an exact count of the people who attended Thursday's affair, he added that it appears that attendance the past several years has leveled off at the 15,000-20,000 mark. Harris said people traveled from as far away as Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New Jersey to attend Thursday's celebration.

A smaller, but no less enthusiastic, celebration took place at Kingston's Dietz Stadium Thursday night. The Kingston Professional 'Firefighters Benevolent Association sponsored a program of music and fireworks that attracted several thousand awed spectators.

Nixon Risked Death With Ailing Leg

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon knowingly risked his life when he rejected medical advice and went to the Middle East last month with a potentially deadly blood clot in his left leg, his personal physician says.

"The President knew there was an outside chance that the condition could take his life," Dr. Walter Tkach said in an interview Thursday night. But he added: "The danger is now past."

He said Nixon "took a calculated risk," and "it could have killed him."

Tkach revealed for the first time that Nixon's phlebitis —an inflamation of the veins in his left leg was more serious than had been publicly described.

Tkach called it "thrombo phlebitis" — inflamation plus a clot.

The potential danger, he said, was that the clot could break away, course through the circulatory system and lodge in the heart or lungs. Pressed further, he said this can be fatal if the clot is big enough.

But he said the clot has now attached itself to the wall of the vein in Nixon's leg, and when that happens the danger is pretty much over.

Nixon spent Independence Day at his Florida home resting from his Middle East and Moscow trips. He swam in the pool, walked on the beach and went for a ride on the yacht off his close friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

Tkach said Nixon first felt discomfort in his leg June 8 at Camp David, Md., the weekend before the Middle East trip

He said Nixon said nothing about it to his doctors until June 10, during his first stop in Salzburg, Austria.

It was there that Tkach and an associate physician, Dr. William Lukash, diagnosed the condition and considered hospitalization, Tkach said.

"We had an obligation and we told him what the potential hazards would be of a clot breaking off and hitting his heart or lungs," he said.

"The President said he understood but had an obligation to make the trip to the Middle East."

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon also ordered that the ailment not be announced because he did not want the Arab and Israeli leaders constantly to ask, "How's your phlebitis?"

The phlebitis—but not the clot—was disclosed by the White House on the eve of Nixon's June 25 departure for Moscow, after CBS correspondent Dan Rather told of it in a newscast.

The clot was confirmed only after the New York Daily News reported it Thursday night.

Tkach said the danger from the clot was already "very slight" by the time the President began his trip to the Soviet Union.

Ehrlichman: Learned All About It Later

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John D. Ehrlichman's previously secret testimony that he learned about a psychiatric profile of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg only after a break-in at Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office was presented to a federal court jury today.

In the testimony, given to a grand jury May 14, 1973, two weeks after he resigned as President Nixon's top domestic adviser, Ehrlichman said:

"Well, I learned after the break-in that they were looking for information for what they call a psychological profile."

Ehrlichman is charged with lying to the grand jury in making that statement, as well as conspiracy in the break-in at the office of Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, who was Ellsberg's psychiatrist. He and three others are on trial in U.S. District Court.

The prosecution also read Ehrlichman's grand jury testimony for Sept. 13, 1973, in which Ehrlichman changed his testimony and said he saw the psychiatric profile before the break-in. In the testimony, Ehrlichman said his memory was refreshed by an appearance before the House committee charged with overviewing the Central Intelligence Agency and by seeing the White House blueprint for the break-in.

The prosecution has presented much testimony in the trial about memos speaking of a psychological profile before the break-in—memos that were addressed to Ehrlichman — and of meetings among Ehrlichman and other members of White House "Plumbers" unit at which the profile was discussed.

Before the grand jury testimony was read, Ehrlichman's lawyer said he would drop a request to subpoena White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig to testify, and attorneys for Henry A. Kissinger said the secretary of state knew nothing about the burglary and asked that his subpoena be quashed.

Ehrlichman, President Nixon's former domestic adviser, is on trial with three convicted Watergate burglars in connection with the 1971 break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. On June 19, Ehrlichman's lawyers obtained subpoenas against Kissinger and Haig.

William Frates, Ehrlichman's chief lawyer, said the subpoena against Haig would be dropped. Haig's brief said "Such an order would interfere with his duties to the President at Key Biscayne, Fla."

For Kissinger, attorneys John J. Chester and Gene A. Staudt said their client could not appear because he is holding "critical meetings" in Europe with NATO officials and, calling the subpoena "unreasonable and oppressive," said he should not be asked to testify unless his appearance was critical to the case.

"Even if the above criteria could be met by the defendant it would nevertheless be unduly oppressive and injurious to the public interest to require Dr. Kissinger to appear at this time," the lawyers said.

"Such an order would require Dr. Kissinger to abruptly terminate his official mission abroad."

The action by Kissinger's attorneys came before testimony began in the seventh day of the trial. The case against Ehrlichman may hinge on the meaning of such words as "operation," "effort," and "covert."

Ehrlichman is expected to begin his testimony next week, and there were indications the prosecution nearly was finished presenting the case.

In testimony so far, Egil "Bud" Krogh Jr., and David R. Young Jr., former co-directors of the White House "plumbers" unit, have said Ehrlichman initialed an Aug. 11, 1971, memo they wrote which called for a "covert operation" to obtain records of Beverly Hills, Calif., psychiatrist Lewis J. Fielding.

Dr. Fielding then was treating Daniel Ellsberg, the man who leaked the Pentgon Papers.

On Aug. 30 or Sept. 1, 1971, Krogh said, he and Young called Ehrlichman at Cape Cod, Mass., and got a "go ahead" for the operation. Four days later Fielding's office was broken into.

Krogh said that on an earlier occasion —Aug. 5 —he and Young had discussed Ellsberg with Ehrlichman.

Associate Watergate prosecutor William H. Merrill asked whether the word "entry" was used.

"I don't recall using the term 'enter' or 'entry,'" Krogh replied. "However, we used terms like 'operation,' 'effort' and 'covert,' which embraced what took place."

It will be up to the jury to decide what the words meant.

Ehrlichman, G. Gordon Liddy, Bernard L. Baker and Eugenio Martinez are accused of conspiring to violate Fielding's civil rights. Ehrlichman is also charged with four counts of lying to the FBI and the grand jury about the case.

The prosecution charges that the defendants hoped to get information from Fielding which would could be used to discredit Ellsberg.

Death-Free Holiday in Area

KINGSTON

With more than one-third of the long 102-hour Fourth of July weekend past, no accidental fatalities have occurred in Ulster County, although numerous auto mishaps were reported throughout the area since the holiday began at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

New York State 'traffic accidents have claimed at least 10 lives since the Fourth of July holiday weekend began with warm temperatures and heavy traffic.

A UPI survey showed that at le nine persons were killed in upstate traffic accidents while one death was recorded in the New York City area. At least three persons drowned upstate and two in the metropolitan New York area.

Traditionally heavy traffic conditions were reported by police around the state.

In Nassau County, a police spokesman said traffic was so heavy that some motorists stopped their cars on the shoulders of highways and began picnicking on the roadside grass.

Nassau police had to close the Meadowbrook and Wantagh Parkways because of heavy traffic to Long Island beaches, particularly Jones Beach, which police reported was "overcrowded."

The nation's Fourth of July weekend traffic death toll reached 146 today as many persons interrupted holiday outings to return to work.

Showers and thunderstorms dampened activities in parts of the South and ranged northeastward into interior New England. Most other sections of the country were dry.

The National Safety Council estimated that between 450 and 550 persons would die on the nation's highways during the holiday period.

The count of traffic deaths began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and will end at midnight Sunday in each time zone.

Designation for West Strand

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Kingston's West Strand Historic District has been added to the National Register of Historic Places, Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. announced today.

The final hurdle in having the downtown district designated a national historic site was cleared following the recommation of Alexander Aldrich, State Parks and Recreation Commissioner, and the state's Historic Preservation officer.

Fish said he was informed of the designation by the National Registry of Historic Places.

In April the State Board for Historic Preservation recommended that the West Strand Historic District be included in the National Registry of Historic Places.

The District — a classic example of the 1870-period architecture — includes a total of nine buildings, as approved by the state. Those state-approved buildings are the Mansion House, on the corner of West Strand and Broadway, seven row buildings on West Strand, and the Daily Freeman building opposite the Mansion House at 3 Broadway. Running north and south, the District includes the area between West Strand and the shores of the Rondout Creek, part of which is now referred to as the Freeman Parking lot off Ferry Street, and up to 100 feet to the rear of buildings fronting on West Strand.

It was not immediately clear, however, whether the Daily Freeman building was included in the national designation.

Eight of the nine buildings were approved as city historic sites by the Common Council at its April 2 meeting.

The Daily Freeman building was excluded in the city designation after Publisher Richard L. Treat requested the designation be held in abeyance pending negotiations for its sale to a light manufacturing firm.

The Freeman will be moving to new headquarters on Hurley Avenue in the fall.

Research and compilation of data for the application for national historic designation was done by the State Board of Historic Preservation with the aid of the applicants, Project SCORE, which owns three of the buildings in the Historic District.

Staff assistants to the state board visited Kingston several times for on-site inspections and meetings with sponsors and city officials prior to the board's recommendation.

CITY MAN HOSPITALIZED IN CRASH — A two-car collision early today on East Chester Street involving the car shown above, driven by Naylor Cooper, 23, of Lake Katrine, and a second vehicle operated by Reginald C. Hamilton Jr., 24, of 21 Presidents Place, Kingston, resulted in the hospitalization of Hamilton. He suffered from shock and abrasions, according to Doctor's Ambulance personnel, who removed him from the scene. He was listed in satisfactory condition today.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my husband, Joseph DeLuca who passed away July 5, 1973.

I think of you in silence,
No eye can see me weep,
But many a silent tear is shed,
When others are asleep.
When I am lonely
And everything goes wrong,
I seem to hear you whisper,
"Cheery up and carry on."
Each time I look at your picture,
You seem to smile and say,
"Don't worry I'm only sleeping,
We'll meet again someday."
So you who have a loving husband,
Cherish him with care
For you'll never know the loneliness
'Til you find he isn't there.

Wife, ERMA

A leaf in the book of memories
Is gently turned today,
And the sorrows placed upon that page,
Are as fresh as yesterday.
There is no parting for those we love
No distance can divide,
For today in memory's garden,
We're walking side by side.

Vets Demonstration . . . Finale

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a Viet Cong flag to his right, a North Vietnamese flag to his left and the White House behind him, former prisoner of war John Young shouted his thanks to those Americans who demonstrated against the Vietnam war.

"The only thing that brought us home was the struggle of the Vietnamese people and the American people in the streets," he said Thursday at a rally that attracted about 1,700 persons.

The rally, organized by the Vietnam Veterans Against the War—Winter Soldier Organization, capped four days of demonstrations at the Veterans' Administration Justice Department, Court of Military Appeals and Capitol.

The demonstrators demanded amnesty for war resisters, improved veterans benefits and care, an end to aid to South Vietnam and Cambodia and the removal of President Nixon from office.

There was no violence reported during the four-mile march Thursday from the Capitol Mall to the Lincoln Memorial and back, with a stop for the rally on the Ellipse near the White House.

Praising the antiwar movement and criticizing Nixon, Young, of Arlington Heights, Ill., said:

"If Nixon did anything for us, it was that he kept us in North Vietnam four years longer than we should have been there. It's his turn to do some time in a detention camp."

Seven former prisoners, including Young, took part in the week of demonstrations.

Alphonso Riate of Los Angeles, another former prisoner, told the crowd:

"We are here to make it known we are struggling for the rights of veterans and for the right of all Americans to return to their country with unconditional amnesty."

Sam Schorr, one of the coordinators of the march, said that although 6 per cent of all Americans are out of work 10 per cent of the veterans are unemployed. Jobs available through the Veterans Administration are menial ones such as janitors and laundry helpers, he said.

Some of the marchers wore green Army fatigues.

Some wore bandages covering wounds received in a clash Wednesday with policemen near the Capitol.

As the marchers circled the Lincoln Memorial, they mingled with Independence Day tourists and vistors to a nearby exhibit on American folklife.

Some of the tourists picked up the group's chant and some took snapshots as the marchers raised their arms in the clenched fist salute.

Another group, calling itself the Second American Bonus March after a group that marched on Washington during the summer of 1932 seeking improved benefits, attracted fewer than 50 persons to a rally on the opposite side of the White House from the Ellipse.

Cosmos Complete Docking

MOSCOW (UPI) — Two Soviet cosmonauts linked their orbiting capsule to a Russian space laboratory today in a practice mission for a rendezvous above the earth next year with U.S. astronauts.

The official Tass news agency said the two cosmonauts "feel well" after docking their Soyuz 14 space ship with a Salyut 3 scientific station, entering the laboratory and going to work.

The agency said the cosmonauts —Col. Pavel Popovich and Lt. Col. Yuri Artyukhin — went into the laboratory through a transfer hatch and "the crew of the orbiting station has started to fulfil its program."

"The process of approach, station-keeping and docking of the space craft passed normally," Tass said.

The agency said the early part of the approach was handled automatically, but the two cosmonauts took over the docking operation for the last 100 yards.

The spacemen took off Wednesday from the main Soviet launching station at Baikonur in central Asia to link up with an orbiting station sent up on June 25.

Tass said the work of the two cosmonauts included "studies of the earth's surface, of atmospheric formations and the physical characteristics of space."

The official news agency said the two spacemen would also conduct "medico-biological experiments and testing of the station's improved design."

The mission was a rehearsal for a scheduled orbital linkup next summer between a Soviet Soyuz craft and an American Apollo vehicle.

Nine U.S. astronauts were at Star City, the cosmonaut training center near Moscow, planning details of the joint flight.

Popovich, 44, flew into orbit in Vostok 4 in 1962. Artyukhin, 44, a cosmonaut for 11 years, was making his first venture into space.

The docking of the Soyuz capsule with the multi-ton Salyut was the first Soviet linkup in space in more than three years.

Three cosmonauts docked with Salyut 1 in June, 1971, but died when a faulty hatch destroyed their Soyuz vehicle on the trip back to earth.

The Soviets lag far behind the United States in space laboratory research and have yet to come close to matching the record 84 days in orbit spent by American Skylab astronauts.

Arrest in A Flea Market

TRUCKEE, Calif. (UPI) — John W. Card, suspected of killing three persons and kidnaping three others, was arrested Thursday by FBI agents staking out a holiday flea market.

Agents said Card, a burly 6-foot-2 woodcutter, was captured without a struggle. He was armed with a .45-caliber pistol and was carrying more than $3,000 in cash, they said.

A .30-caliber hunting rifle was found in his car, they said.

Card, 26, of Willows, was suspected of killing veterinarian C.B. Griffiths, his wife and teen-aged daughter in that Sacramento Valley town eight days ago.

Earlier, a widow and her two children, who allegedly had been held hostage by Card, freed themselves after being chained to a tree at a campsite in the Sierra foothills near Colusa, Calif., 50 miles north of Sacramento.

Kay Skillin, 34, and her children, Wesley, 13, and Debbie, 12, were kidnaped last Saturday from their ranch near Willows.

They told police they were treated well as they traveled with their abductor to Utah and Nevada, spending the nights in motels or in a camper pickup truck along the edge of the highway.

Deputies from three counties staked out the Truckee area, near the Nevada border, most of the day.

They did not say how they learned Card would be in town. The 240-pound former high school football tackle was arrested at the market, which was part of July 4 festivities.

Investigators said that Mrs. Griffiths was shot to death last Friday after her husband and and daughter were killed near their ranch. She earlier had been forced to cash two checks totaling $5,250 at a bank and a grocery store.

The Glenn County district attorney said Card was to be charged with murder and kidanping. No bail was set.

'New' Loopholes in New Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House committee has produced a Watergate-inspired campaign finance bill that creates new election rules but also new ways around them.

Senate-passed legislation and the bill approved by the House Administration Committee would establish limits on contributions and candidates' campaign spending.

However, critics in and out of Congress are going after loopholes in the House bill, some large eough, says a Common Cause lobbyist, for armored trucks to drive thorugh.

Whether the loopholes can be closed or narrowed in the weeks ahead depends on conditions of debate to be set by the House Rules Committee. The Senate bill is regarded as loophole-free.

Reformers want unlimited chances, to offer, debate and vote upon amendments.

But Administration Committee Chairman Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, is talking of seeking a rule allowing only a few amendments, maybe just floor tests on the controversial enforcement and public financing sections of his bill.

In the House bill-drafting sessions, the members seemed to create the loopholes while aiming at what many of them regarded as campaign nuisances.

For instance, Hays asked why a candidate who throws a fund-raising dinner at $25 per plate and pays $12.50 per plate to the hotel for the dinner should have to account publicly for the meal cost, and count the entire $25 toward his spending limit.

Going along, the panel voted to exempt fund-raising costs from counting toward spending limits, and to exempt candidates from even reporting these costs for public scrutiny.

But critics say this would allow any campaign activity to qualify as fund-raising. They say a half-hour network television broadcast need only carry a subtitle such as "send money" and the public will never know who paid for it, or how much it costs.

The panel voted again and limited the fund-raising exemption to 25 per cent of the campaign ceilings, which is up to $5 million for the presidential campaigns.

However, the panel did not mandate that the expenses be disclosed, and it did not rewrite its last draft to apply the limit to activities of political committees.

Another loophole was created by trying to do something for folks who have coffee and cookies in their homes while candidates talk.

Candidates should not be required to add up and report all these little expenses, Hays said, and the panel approved exemptions from limits and reporting for donations of real property, food and beverages and travel expenses.

Reps. Bill Frenzel, R-Minn., and John Brademas, D-Ind., said this provision would allow unlimited donations of cars, computer services, cash-raising banquets.

Douglas Orders Release

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Radio station manager Will Lewis, jailed for refusing to give the FBI the original of a tape recording by Patricia Hearst, has been ordered released from federal prison by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Douglas Thursday ruled that "substantial First Amendment claims" had been raised on Lewis' behalf, enough to justify his release on his own recognizance. At the federal correctional institution on Terminal Island here, officials said they were waiting for a written order that would set Lewis free. The order was expected to come today.

Lewis, the 42-year-old general manager of station KPFK, was jailed for contempt by U.S. District Court Judge A. Andrew Hauk June 19, after he refused to surrender the tape or answer grand jury questions.

The recording, found in a rubbish area behind the station June 7, contained messages from Miss Hearst and Symbionese Liberation Army members William and Emily Harris.

The station turned over a copy of the tape to the FBI, but withheld the original, which authorities said they needed to check for fingerprints and to try to trace where it came from.

Lewis argued that giving up the tape would turn KPFK into an arm of law enforcement, endangering the free flow of information from persons who would no longer trust the station.

Unemployment Rate Steady

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's unemployment rate held steady in June with 5.2 per cent of the labor force out of work, the government said today.

The rate of joblessness has remained at about this level since January.

Despite the usual influx into the labor market of students looking for summer jobs, the number of out-of-work Americans totaled 4.8 million in June, virtually the same number as in May, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

Employment, on the other hand, edged up slightly last month to 86.2 million. The number of Americans holding jobs has now increased 400,000 in the past two months after six months of virtually no change.

As usual, unemployment was highest among teen-agers, but the 15.6 per cent jobless rate for this age group was the same as in May, the BLS said.

The job figures are adjusted for seasonal variation, including the annual surge of young job-seekers following the close of the school year.

The teen-age increase this June was about the same as in recent years, and thus had virtually no effect on the overall jobless rate.

The stability in the unemployment picture in June carried over into other labor force groups. The jobless rate for household heads, 3.1 per cent; adult men, 3.5 per cent; and adult women, 5.1 per cent, were nearly the same as in May.

However, the rate for married men rebounded to 2.6 per cent last month after the temporary slide to 2.2 per cent one month earlier.

About 8.8 per cent of black workers were without jobs in June, compared with 4.8 per cent for their white counterparts, but these figures were unchanged from May, the BLS said.

Young Vietnam-era veterans, those 20 to 24 years of age, continued to have a tougher time finding work than those of the same age who did not serve in the military. The jobless rate for young veterans was 10.1 per cent in June, about the same as in the previous five months, while nonveterans of the same age were out of work at a 7.5 per cent rate.

Ulster County Jail Warden, 'Is There or Isn't There?'

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

The Ulster County Jail—scene of numerous difficulties during the past several months—is apparently at present without the services of a full-time warden, at least that is the impression being given by persons who supposedly have the responsibility of running the jail.

Despite numerous attempts, the Freeman has been unable to contact Sheriff William B. Martin to clarify the confusing situation.

Frank Harkin, who was appointed warden March 25, says that due to ill health he has ben phasing out his activities since the end of May and is currently serving only in an advisory capacity.

"I'm only in charge from the standpoint of making recommendations and suggestions," Harkin told the Freemen when reached at the jail offices Wednesday.

Harkin said that under a May 30 order issued by Sheriff Martin, former First Sergeant William Dean was acting warden.

But Dean resigned on Monday morning from the Sheriffs Department.

Dean confirmed his resignation when contacted by the Freeman, but he declined to comment on his reasons for leaving the department, which he joined as a deputy April 26.

He was "temporarily" appointed first sergeant by the order of the sheriff May 30.

That order states, in part: "First Sergeant Walter Baschnagel has been temporarily appointed lieutenant; Deputy William Dean has been temporarily appointed first sergeant; James Hennessey has been temporarly appointed investigator. Their duties will be general supervision of the jail while cooperating with the order and recommendations of Warden Harkin and the general supervision of all related activities of this department."

Lt. Baschnagel says Harkin is in charge of the jail. "As far as I'm concerned, I handle police activities outside the jail," he told the Freeman.

Hennessey could not be reached to clarify the situation.

Harkin said that despite the fact he is named as warden in the order, "I prefer another name."

In fact, Harkin said not only has be been phasing out his activities since the end of May, he will be entering the hospital "in a week or so."

Harkin, who suffered an apparent stroke in July of last year, said he continues to suffer from high blood pressure problems.

He said he wasn't certain who was to take over Dean's position of acting warden.

Harkin had nearly 30 years of experience in the corrections field prior to his appointment as warden. He also served as Wawarsing Town Supervisor from Jan. 1, 1968 until the beginning of this year.

In announcing Harkin's appointment during the first week of April, Martin praised him, saying, "He brings a wealth of experience to this new position."

Judge Grants Injunction On 'Buyer Beware' Signs

By WADE BURKHART

ACCORD

State Supreme Court Justice DeForest C. Pitt has granted a preliminary injunction against continued display of buyer-warning signs on the properties of two families in the Worley development in Accord.

The signs, which read "Do Not Buy in This Development Until You Talk to One of Us Homeowners," were on the properties of James and Joan McNamara and Ronne and June Taylor. The Taylors and the McNamaras are dissatisfied with the homes they have purchased from Jasper Worley, the developer.

Pitt granted the injunction after hearing the case in a special term of Ulster County Supreme Court June 7. Pitt's opinion is dated June 20, and J. Philip Zand, Worley's attorney, said an order from Pitt had been signed, and delivered to the defendants' attorney, Alex J. Nirenberg.

Nirenberg confirmed Wednesday that the Pitt order had been received, and said he would be giving his clients formal notice of the order by "getting a letter out tomorrow (Thursday)." Mrs. McNamara said Wednesday that she had received no formal word of the decision, and that the signs were staying up until she did.

In court papers, Worley said that about 30 prospective buyers used to come to his subdivision for information each weekend until the signs went up. He said since the signs went up, people didn't get as far as his sales office. The defendants did not disagree with this, Pitt noted.

Pitt said free speech was not an unqualified right. "The signs here complained of, do not merely complain about the homes that the defendants have purchased," wrote Pitt. "These signs are calculated solely to do irreparable injury to the plaintiff's reputation and to occasion serious financial loss to the plaintiff."

Pitt said putting the signs up was an act that "cannot be constitutionally protected."

Nirenberg said the case would be appealed to the Court of Appeals.

"We must go to a higher court when a lower court extends the doctrine of caveat emptor (let the buyer beware), to the point where you lose your right of freedom of speech to make the buyer aware," said Nirenberg.

'Keeping Politics Out of the Courts'

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — In the words of Alice in Wonderland, the confusion surrounding the election of two associate judges to the State Court of Appeals grows "curiouser and curiouser."

If the pious protestations of virtually every ranking political figure in the state are to be taken at face value, politics should be a "no-no" in filling the bench of the state's highest court.

There are numerous statements issued every year about "keeping politics out of the courts.'

Alas, it would appear that nobody is paying much attention to what they are saying.

For the simple fact remains that there has been more political infighting in the past three years over Court of Appeals judgeships than brawls at a country square dance in a rural beer garden.

And this year is no exception.

First, the Republicans named incumbent Associate Judges Samuel Rabin and Harold Stevens as their candidates for the high court in the November elction.

Stevens, a Democrat and the first black on the Court of Appeals, and Rabin, a Republican, had been appointed to the bench earlier by GOP Gov. Malcolm Wilson.

The Democrats then engaged in some political soothing of feathers by designating Stevens as one of their candidates to appease black leaders within the party.

At the same time, however, they named Third Department Appellate Division Justice Lawrence Cooke of Monticello as the other candidate, leaving Rabin out in the cold.

Meanwhile, State Supreme Court Justice Bertram Harnett of Nassau County gained enough votes to get into a Democratic primary and Manhattan lawyer Jacob Fuchsberg indicated he also would challenge for the Democratic nod.

Harnett later withdrew, but if Fuchsberg is successful in getting his name on the ballot it will leave the Democrats with three choices to fill two spots on their line—Stevens, Cooke and Fuchsberg.

Rabin, 69, took a look at the developing battle and said, in effect, "enough is enough—I've had it."

He withdrew, noting that at his age he would have only a year to serve on the court before mandatory retirement and a tough election campaign was not his idea of the way to wind up a distinguished judicial career.

Now the Republicans are looking for another candidate to run with Stevens, and State Chairman Richard Rosenbaum makes it very obvious that the GOP is not going to endorse Cooke.

Rosenbaum can't be blamed. In the previous two years the Republicans have tried to work out deals with the Democrats to obtain cross-endrosements for the high court judgeships to prevent political campaings.

Rosenbaum blames State Democratic Chairman Joseph Crangle for derailing the efforts.

On his part, Crangle says Rosenbaum's offers of bipartisanship really aren't all that great.

At the rate its 'going, candidates for judgeships to the high court won't need campaign managers in a few years — they'll need seconds.

Wilson Charges Hoax by SSI

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) —Gov. Malcolm Wilson has repeated his charge that recent "improvements" in Supplemental Security Income (SSI) by Congress were a "cruel hoax" as far as New York State residents were concerned.

The Governfor Wednesday ordered Social Services Commissioner Abe Lavine to develop alternative methods of improving benefits to recipients.

He said that although Congress had approved another cost-of-living adjustment in SSI payments in July, it would cost the state and local governments an additional $70 million a year to finance the increase.

"The State of New York simply could not withstand such a major drain on its fiscal resources," Wilson said.

The SSI program was developed to improve benefits for the aged, blind and disabled but because New York State's benefits in those categories were already among the best in the nation, the SSI program has not helped state residents to any extent, Wilson charged.

"Because of the inactivity and insensititvity of the federal government with regard to the needs of our citizens, I have directed Commissioner Lavine to take the necessary steps to perfect administrative systems and all other preparations necessary to implement a new system of cash assistance and services for eligible SSI recipients," Wilson said.

He ordered Lavine to:

—Replace the "current artificial schedule of living arrangements" as a basis for determing cash assistance levels with a "more equitable" universal minimum income grant approach.

—Determine and provide services on an "individual needs basis" to be financed separately from the cash assistance portions of the individual's monthly check.

Wilson said because the system was so complex it would require several months for Lavine to work out the details.

Cheating Probe

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The State Education Department is investigating reports of cheating on a statewide nursing examination given last February.

A department spokesman said Wednesday that "We have received reports of irregularities in the hursing examination given in New York State and these reports are being investigated."

Another examination, scheduled for next week, will be given as planned, the spokesman said.

He said department officials had discussed the allegations and determined "there was no reason to think security had been breached" in regard to the tests to be given next July 10-11.

About 15,000 prospective nurses take the tests, which are given every six months. The tests are taken at six sites scattered across the state.

The alleged cheating came to light when a California State Board of Nursing official said it was believed that 80 per cent of those taking the nationwide examination in California had advance help on the test.

The California official added that it was alleged the cheating also occurred in other states.

The actual examination is prepared by the Committee of the State Boards of Nursing of the American Nurses Association. The Education Department spokesman said the department's participation consisted in overseeing the giving of the tests but that it did not prepare the questions and answers.

The spokesman said it was possible that the alleged irregularities also might have occurred in examinations given prior to the test administered last February.

The cheating allegation is the second of its type for the state education officials in the last month. In June, nine Regents examinations were cancelled after it was discovered that the tests had been stolen from a Brooklyn high school and given wide distribution to high school students.

Two Who Wouldn't Give In

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's top aide, H. R. Haldeman, ordered tax audits on a dozen White House targets, but the Treasury official assigned the hatchet job ripped up the list in revulsion.

In passing on the order for the audit, which would have violated Internal Revenue Service rules, Haldeman stated or implied he was acting on President Nixon's personal orders, according to then White House aide Clark Mollenhoff.

"Either Haldeman told me the President wanted (the audits) done or that was the implication," said Mollenhoff, a Pultizer prize-winning reporter. "I was just the conduit," he said.

As Mollenhoff remembers it, Haldeman called him in March or April 1970, and informed him he would be getting a list of names on which a "routine examination . . . or audit" was to be done.

Shortly thereafter, either Haldeman himself or the late Murray Chotiner, also a White House aide, delivered the list of about a dozen names. Mollenhoff had made a few tax inquiries at IRS before, but he told us that "this time, it was one of those things when there was something different."

Nevertheless, he forwarded the names to IRS Commissioner Randolph Thrower with a request that they be examined. Thrower told us that if the list had been backed up with specific data, he would have sent it to the field as he is required to do.

But, he said, "I certainly did not want to do it," with only a list of handpicked targets. In milder, but final words, he told Mollenhoff he wouldn't go through with the deal, and backed it up with a memo.

Far from slacking off, the White House tried a second approach. This time, Chotiner was the "conduit" to Treasury. Ironically, his own income taxes had been relentlessly audited during the two previous Democratic administrations.

But Chotiner summoned the Treasury Department's highly respected law enforcement director, Martin Pollner, to the White House.

"I got this call that he wanted to speak to me," recalled Pollner, now a New York lawyer. "He told me, 'if it's possible as a public service (since) anyone can be audited, these are people I suggest.' "

Without further ado, Chotiner produced an envelope and handed it to Pollner. In it were about a dozen names typed on paper with no letterhead.

"I felt it was an improper approach," Pollner said, explaining his distress. Yet, he was also aware of the dangers of refusing White House orders.

Badly shaken, he left Chotiner to return to his own office just across the street. But once outside of Chotiner's sight his resolve hardened. He took out the list and "I ripped it up and threw it away," as best he recalls in a trash can near the White House.

Still, the White House was determined. Chotiner called Pollner at least twice to remind him of the audits. Pollner said he fended Chotiner off by saying, "I've got a couple of other things I'm doing."

While neither Mollenhoff nor Pollner say they can remember the names, Thrower, reached by my associate Les Whitten in Atlanta, says he recollects they were definitely not names of administration figures simply being checked out.

Both Mollenhoff and Thrower have given their stories to Watergate investigators but Pollner told us they have never contacted him. "I'd as soon it was never mentioned," he sighed.

Chotiner made his peace with Watergate sleuths last December, a few weeks before he was killed in an auto accident. He confided to them that he had been given "a list of people with a request to perform tax audits on these persons." Chotiner said he passed on "this list of 10 or 12 names (to) Mollenhoff and to Martin Pollner."

Footnote: Haldeman could not be reached, and the White House has denied the President personally tried to misuse the IRS. However, in a previsouly reported incident, White House counsel John Dean attempted to get then IRS Commissioner Johnnie Walters to audit White House "enemies." He, too, balked.

POWER PLAY — At a time when the power industry is most in need of strong regulation, President Nixon has named a minor Watergate figure as one of its federal regulators.

He is Dan Kingsley, a former White House personnel chief still on the White House staff. He was nominated to replace Federal Power Commissioner Albert Brooke.

The Senate Commerce Committee, when it looks into the nomination, is certain to question Kingsley about his role in the notorious "Responsiveness" program set up by political plotters John Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman and Fred Malek.

"Responsiveness" was a fancy name for using the entire machinery of government, including grants and patronage, to drum up political support for President Nixon. The special prosecutor's office is now investigating it.

Confidential memos reveal that Kingsley, while not a key figure, cooperated willingly with the scheme. Two of his staffers were busy henchmen for "Responsiveness," and Kingsley carried out several projects for the Mitchell-Haldeman-Malek troika.

In an agonized talk with us, Kingsley said he had done no more than any presidential subordinate would do. "I am my own man," Kingsley said.

Dangers of Indifference

The long-awaited special committee's report evaluating sports emphasis at Ulster County Community College was released earlier this week—result: no bombshells were exploded nor any shock waves reverberating through the community.

The special committee, convened by outgoing president George Erbstein, was formed following the disclosure that one of the members of the 1972-73 basketball squad had never graduated from high school. Penalties assessed against UCCC included forfeiting its outstanding 34-5 season record and placement of the squad as high as fourth in the national community college standings.

The findings of the investigation, which lasted more than six months, are aimed at providing guidelines for athletic programs at the college rather than probing specific instances of alleged irregularities. Undoubtedly some of the assertions in the committee's report pertaining to out-of-area-recruitment will be open to question. But one small statement in the report is an indictment of indiffernce for all of us.

Essentially the paragraph read that the committee was very much aware of the small community response generated by the basketball scandal and concluded it had insufficient information to determine the impact of the college's athletic program on the community.

In other words, indifference smothered community voices that should have been heard.

Congress Should Have Role

The assertion of Rhode Island Sen. John O. Pastore that Congress should have some say in agreements with foreign countries to share U.S. nuclear technology makes good sense.

Senator Pastore wants Congress to have veto power over the executive in any future plans to share nuclear technology. He said he is not trying to thwart the administration's pledge to give nuclear reactors to Egypt, but only to give Congress a role in this type of agreement.

It is obvious that there is a growing concern about the U.S. agreement to furnish Egypt with nuclear technology and supplies for peaceful uses.

Critics of President Nixon's reactor offer to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat are worried that Egypt could use the technology to make nuclear bombs, although the President told congressional leaders that safeguards would prevent this.

Drawing the worst possible picture, agreement does possibly mean that Egypt could, if this was her intention, convert the peaceful nuclear installations to instruments of war, and that the Middle East could be the center of the world's first nuclear war.

On the other hand, it generally is overlooked that Egypt already has two nuclear reactors furnished by the Soviet Union for peaceful purposes. There is something to be said for having the United States do the nuclear advising rather than having the Soviet Union to be the sponsor. The Russians want to keep the pot boiling in the Middle East and the United States wants to lower the flame.

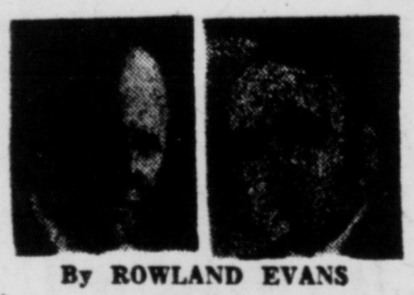
Senator Pastore says he hopes his proposal can be enacted in time to give Congress final word on the U.S. nuclear assistance to Egypt. He said the legislation would cover all arrangements for future sharing of nuclear know-how with foreign countries "either for peaceful or military uses."

The nuclear diversion risk is growing and certainly deserves special attention from Congress, especially in view of this country's having nuclear agreements with 35 countries. The entire monitoring process to detect possible military use of civilian nuclear power should be reviewed in congressional hearings.

These safeguards are necessary to avoid violations of any nuclear agreement and also to ease the growing concern of a nuclear holocaust.

Inside Report

A Unified Court



By ROWLAND EVANS
and
ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The long-shrouded fact that the Supreme Court concealed its division in the historic 1954 school integration case to produce a public facade of unanimity suggests the President's cold war against the high court over the White House tapes may backfire.

The unanimous 1954 decision in Brown vs. Board of Education reflects a modern tendency by the Supreme Court toward overwhelming often unanimous, decisions on paramount constitutional questions when opinion within the court may really be divided. That tendency might produce a one-sided decision ordering Mr. Nixon to turn over his tapes to special prosecutor Leon Jaworski, confounding the President's strategy.

Although the record of Supreme Court deliberations is top secret, the fact is that the 1954 court, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, split 6 to 3 in its pre-ruling deliberations over school desegregation. But when the Justices actually voted, the three in the minority joined the majority to make the decision unanimous.

Legal scholars believe that the White House refusal to say it would obey an adverse finding is designed to warn the high court that a presidential refusal to obey could lead to the worst constitutional crisis since the Civil War. Leaving aside the merits of the case, that argument could conceivably impress some justices, leading to a closely-divided split decision. Even if that decision went against Mr. Nixon, it would leave the issue confused and subject to interpretation.

In fact, as the record in the 1954 case indicates, the court tends to congeal into a strong or unanimous majority in major constitutional cases. Thus, the White House cold war could boomerang, simply fortifying a potential anti-Nixon vote angered at the implicit White House threat.

The President's Rabbi

Although Rabbi Baruch Korff is threatening legal action for our report that the June 9 testimonial luncheon for President Nixon was run by the White House, the truth is that presidential aides on the public payroll intervened to prevent a fiasco.

When we reported that the widely publicized pro-Nixon rally was stage-managed by the White House, Korff telephoned us in fury to call the column an "outright lie" and an affront to his "integrity." He would check with his lawyers to see what "action under the law" he could take.

The rabbi did dream up the luncheon sponsored by his National Citizens Committee for Fairness to the Presidency. But the White House was stunned to learn that he had announced a long list of celebrities (including two most unlikely ones, Chief Justice Warren Burger and Democratic Sen. Harold Hughes of Iowa) would attend though he had talked to none of them.

Korff then just let the White House make his press release come true. Although even they could not produce Burger and Hughes, presidential aides did come up with four cabinet-rank officials — and Mr. Nixon himself. The White House also ordered the U.S. Marine Corps Band to play for the "private" party, at taxpayer expense. Bruce Herschensohn, the presidential aide who travels the country on taxpayers' money drumming up opposition to impeachment was in charge of arrangements.

An Air Force Sneak

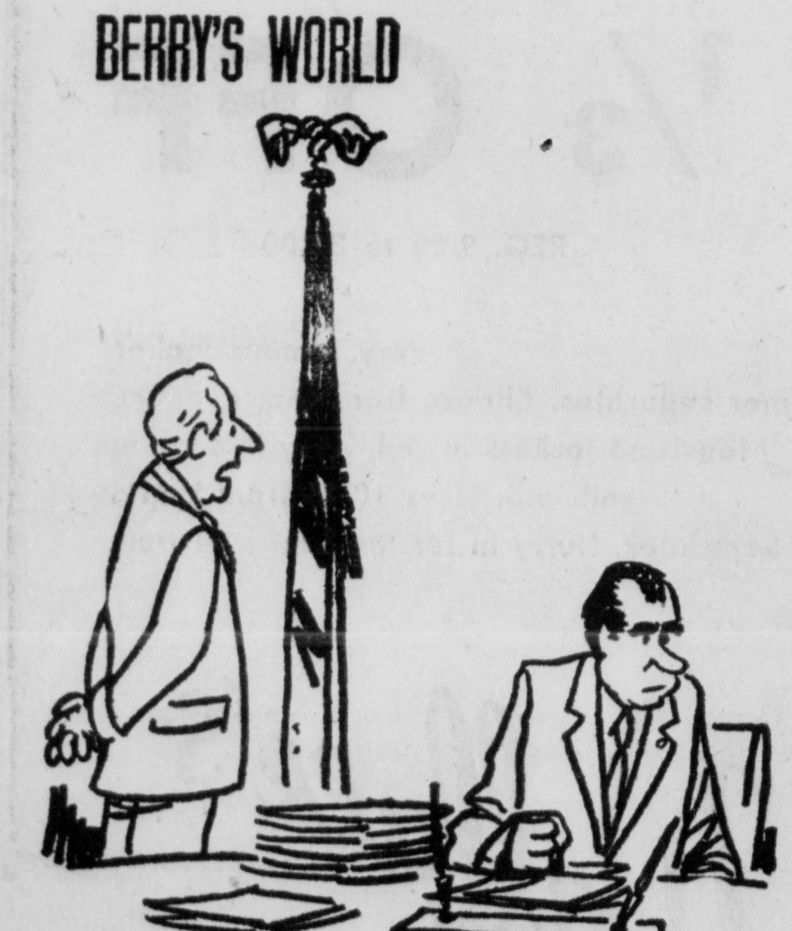
The repeated flat assurance by Air Force top brass that the new B-1 super-bomber could get along without any new tanker force has been blithely forgotten now that Congress has given full-speed-ahead for the B-1.

Thus, hidden away in the Pentagon's new budget for fiscal year 1975 is a $4.5 million item to start a "study" on a so-called "cargo-tanker" that has a future minimum private tag of $5 billion (with the initial study probably to be done by Lockheed, Douglas and Boeing).

To the Air Force, the "cargo-tanker" tag is a way to get around its pledge that the B-1 (itself a $100 million-a-copy item) would not need a new refueling system, despite unprecedented requirements for low-level, long-range attack. As recently as last month, a top general in the Strategic Air Command (SAC) was asked: "Will the B-1 need a new tanker?" His answer: "No."

One rationalization for now requesting advanced new tanker-cargo aircraft was the squeeze on airlift capacity during the October Arab-Israeli war.

Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger wants more airlift of the C-5 variety or larger; the Air Force wants a new B-1 tanker. So, they got together on the $4.5 million first-stage seed money, camouflaged to do either or both.



"We've got to turn this thing around. Let's start leaking stuff to a grand jury for a change!"

The Punchinello of the Piano

Name a man anybody can fall in love with at once. To my knowledge, there is only one: Mr. Jimmy Durante. He's the punchinello of the play world, a man with a heart as big as his nose. When he smiles, it's akin to dropping a rock through a sheet of ice.

He's sick. Well, not exactly. He had a stroke a few years ago. He can drag himself around a little, but, unless a miracle occurs, James Francis will not be seen again, shouting, singing, slapping an old fedora against this thigh, and playing that rinky-dink ragtime.

Durante is one of a kind. He was born on Feb. 10, 1893, in the Cherry Hill section of New York. His old man ran an Italian barbershop, and Jimmy was taught to reach up on a shelf to fetch the proper shaving mug for the right customer.

His mother, Rosa, urged him to study piano. Of course, she expected Brahms, Beethoven, Chopin and Verdi. As soon as the kid learned the scales he punched out ragtime. He was rapping "Oh, You Beautiful Doll" before he understood what one was.

At 17, he begged his father's permission to form a five-piece band and earn a few bucks playing the hot dog joints on the Coney Island boardwalk. Barthelmeo was a serious man, but he said okay, but don't get into trouble.

The boy was, to be charitable, unattractive. He had eyes the size of sapphire chips, a nose like a briefcase, and a mouth just big enough to suck in one spaghetti at a time.

This was counterbalanced by an enormous and genuine love of people, a desire to please everybody, and an ability to make fun of himself. One more thing: he found it impossible to say a bad word about others, even those who hurt him.

He married Jeanne Olsen in 1916. It was a poor move, but Durante never admitted it. Whatever personal hell she built for him, Jimmy grinned it away and said, "She's okay." He would not divorce her. Jeanne lived until 1943.

Durante picked up two singing nuts named Lou Clayton and Eddie Jackson before he was 20. In the 1920s, they played to the gin crowd in West Side warehouses; they were loud and great and funny. All they needed was a loft, a battered upright piano, two spotlights and some tables and chairs.

They were raided. They were busted. The Prohibition agents hated to do it. In 1927, in spite of the fact that Durante was the leader and the premiere performer, Clayton, Jackson and Durante (note the order of Names) opened at Loew's State in New York.

What is love? An indefinable affection? Whatever, New York fell in love with C, J & D. The next year, Florenz Ziegfeld snapped them up for his Follies. After that, Hollywood and mountains of money. He did one picture called "The Passionate Plumber."

Durante was a star. He returned to Brodway with his name in big bright bulbs in such plays as "Strike Me Pink"; "Sally, Irene and Mary"; "George White's Scandals." When he appeared in "Red, Hot and Blue" with Eithel Merman in 1937, the producers put a new and funny kid into the cast: Bob Hope.

Later, Clayton, Jackson and Durante had their own radio show and, in time, their TV show. This is when he began his slow exit line through successive circles of light, tipping the old fedora and whispering, "Gooodnight, Mrs. Calabash, wherever you are." There was no Mrs. Calabash.

Lou Clayton was dying in a California hospital. Jimmy tried to convince his partner he would live. So he put on a closed-circuit dress rehearsal of the next television show with a nonentity substituting for Lou. "See, pal," Durante exulted. "We need you. We're holding the spot open."

In 1960, Durante, 67, married Marjorie Little and, for the first time, Jimmy had his personal goddess. They had a little girl. He bought a home at 511 North Beverly Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. He told me his greatest joy was to walk the little girl down to a playground, put her on ponies and swings, and laugh when she laughed.

A few years ago, he played a big hotel. I walked to a palatial suite of rooms with him. Under his arm he had a box of toasted cornflakes. "I like dem," he said. "I bring my own. The hotel furnishes the milk."

He is 81. He made millions and gave a lot of it to down-and-out actors. Now he limps and doesn't enunciate well. The world loved Jimmy Durante, but he's content with Margy and his little girl. One hopes the curtain doesn't descend for a long, long time . . .

Zoning Law Hysteria . . . Rhinebeck Plans Review

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK

A form of mild hysteria, evidently contagious, over zoning has settled in Dutchess County, and the Town of Rhinebeck appears to be the latest to have caught it.

At this week's Town Board meeting, councilmen voted to organize another Zoning Commission to review the zoning law from top to bottom and also resolved to try for another 90-day building moratorium.

It stems largely from the fact that three Dutchess towns have had their zoning laws stricken down in court in recent months because of technicalities, such as the most recent in the Town of Clinton, adjoining Rhinebeck, where it was found that the law was null and void because town fathers had neglected to adequately inform adjoining municipalities when the law was passed.

Arthur Carl, a veteran planner and zoner in the town who previously served as Planning Board chairman, was appointed chairman of the new Zoning Commission.

Named with him were Marsha Lancto, John Griffin, James Hawco, Phil Stahl, Sally Mazzarella and John Varrichio.

And the town that made building moratoriums locally famous last fall has called a public hearing for 7:30 p. m., July 22 at the town hall to hear public opinion on another one.

The resolution reads, in part: "Whereas the town board has determined it will be in the best interests of all residents and citizens of the town to seek the enactment of a new local zoning law in view of recent judical interpretations and decisions as to procedural elements . . . be it enacted that a moratorium is hereby established for a period of 90 days . . . with respect to the development and use of land . . . and during said period there shall be no subdivision or planned development of land . . . and no building permits or zoning use permits shall be issued or granted."

"All the towns around are doing the same thing," noted Esther Miller, town clerk. Red Hook is one of those towns, as well as Milan and Clinton.

And in Rhinebeck, Community Days will run July 7, 8, 9, and 10 with programs of historic significance and fun. The sloop Clearwater will dock in Rhinecliff July 10 in conjunction with the activities with river tours planned. Recent temporary improvements at the dock site in dumping several truckloads of gravel onto the eroding dock have been completed.

BOOTH PLANS — Members of the Association for Retarded Children discuss plans for the booth they will man during Hurley Stone House Day festivities on July 13. Seated (L-R) are Mrs. Kathleen Smith, Mrs. Dolores Liebergot and Mrs. Laneeta J. Kearney, ARC coordinator and standing (L-R) are Michael Paul, Mrs. Henry Paul Jr. and Victoria Paul. The ARC's booth will be located at the Ten Eyck House (owned by the Paul family) on Old Hurley Mountain Road. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Prison Inmates Graduate DCC

STORMVILLE

Four inmates at Green Haven Correctional Facility have been graduated with associate degrees from Dutchess Community College.

Joseph M. Herbert, Franklin D. Nelson, Charles D. Snyder and John Walsh received their associate in arts degrees in ceremonies at the Stormville prison. Dr. John J. Connolly, DCC president, presented degrees along with officials from the South 40 Corporation.

South 40 is a non-profit organization dedicated to the rehabilitation of inmates and to their successful return to society.

The college has been offering credit courses at the prison in cooperation with South 40 officials since 1970. Afternoon and evening programs are usually offered throughout the year.

Kennon Moody, co-director of South 40, was master of ceremonies for the graduation. This month's commencement at Green Haven brings to six the number of inmates who have completed the college program.

Concert Series Will Open With Opera Singers

TANNERSVILLE

Templemont, located on Clum Hill Road in Tannersville, will open its regular concert-lecture series on Saturday with mezzo-soprano Alice Shields and soprano Linda Mahoney presenting a concert of songs, arias and duets.

Both performers have been well-received by critics and audiences. After Ms. Shields' performance in "Ariadne auf Naxos," one critic wrote, ". . . she has an unusually beautiful voice, rich and dark throughout her range." And, of her performance in Verdi's "Requiem," it was written, "Alice Shields, the mezzo-soprano, was the most consistently excellent of the four soloists. Both her upper and lower registers were equally strong."

Ms. Mahoney, likewise, has received numerous awards and plaudits for her work on the stage. She has performed at Turnau Opera Players, Goldovsky Opera Theatre and the New Haven Opera Society, as well as performances of oratorio and concert throughout the United States.

The program will begin at 2:30 p.m. the artists will greet members of the audience after the concert. The admission price will be used to establish a scholarship fund so that young singers and performers can be aided and encouraged in the future.

Hinchey Backs Bill on Class Action Law Suits

SAUGERTIES

A bill which would permit class actions, a form of lawsuit which allows aggrieved consumers to band together to bring court action, is being supported by Maurice Hinchey, Democrat-Liberal candidate for the Assembly in the 101st District.

Hinchey, who is seeking the seat held by Assemblyman H. Clark Bell, said this form of lawsuit is gaining increasing popularity elsewhere in the country but is greatly restricted here by a 125-year-old state law.

"Because class actions are brought on behalf of all people in the same circumstances, all purchasers of a defective product or all victims of an illegal finance charge, they allow consumers who have been overcharged or defrauded by small amounts of money to bring suit that it would not pay any of them to undertake individually. The group can include thousands of plantiffs, making class actions a significant consumer tool."

Hinchey noted that in California, where consumer class-action suits are permitted, the Playboy Clubs were required to refund $3.7 million to people who had paid $25 for a membership that turned out to have been falsely advertised as exclusive.

"Few of the members would have undertaken the expense to bring a lawsuit on their own to get back $25, but as a collective entity they constituted a powerful force. An identical lawsuit was thrown out of court in New York because the law here prohibits consumer class actions," Hinchey said.

"In order to be effective, class action legislation should include a provision which would permit a damage award known as 'fluid recovery' in cases where individual victims could never be identified," he explained.

"For example, under fluid recovery, a bus or taxi company found to have overcharged it's customers would be required to roll back it's fares until it's income was reduced by the total amount of the illegal overcharges. Without fluid recovery, the company would have to pay only those people who could prove individually that they had been overcharged," Hinchey said.

"Class actions are a stabilizing instrument in society. By permitting the airing of mass grievances in an orderly fashion, the lawsuits provide an antidote to the frustration that is inevitable when laws stand on paper without any way of putting them into effect," he said.

"For the past two years, similar legislation has been sponsored by the Judicial Conference, the policy making body for the state courts, and supported by many consumer and good government groups. It was opposed by the State Bankers Association and died in committee," Hinchey concluded.

Kimpel Seeks State Reform Of 'Blue Laws'

MIDDLETOWN

Helmut Kimpel, State Senate hopeful from the 40th district, has called for reform in the state's Blue Laws, which he said must be made either capable of enforcement or eliminated.

Kimpel said current laws "are not enforceable because local law enforcement agencies do not have the staff and money to properly do so".

Kimpel pointed out that in 1971 the Orange County Legislature called for strict enforcement without providing adequate means of enforcement and called this "typical of a situation which has been made into a farce with citizens losing respect for those laws which should and could be enforced".

"The laws are very confusing and this confusion over what stores may or may not be open and what items may or may not be sold has proven to be a hardship on both the consumer and businessman" Kimpel said, adding that "we must either modernize this category of laws or eliminate them.

Kimpel, a 52-year-old Warwick industrial relations advisor, is opposing State Sen. Richard Schermerhorn in the Sept. 10 Republican primary.

Open Road To Stewart, Says Weyant

HIGHLAND FALLS

"The road blocks that are daily surfacing to block or slow up the starting of the Storm King and Stewart Field projects must be stopped," King James Weyant, candidate for the State Senate in the 40th District, said today.

Mayor of Highland Falls, Weyant, a Democrat, said that "Now, the State of Massachusetts and the Martha's Vineyard Fishermen's Association have surfaced and joined the opposition forces hoping to kill the Storm King Project.

"I fail to understand with electricity in such short supply, with our labor forces suffering due to lack of work, the economy constantly declining and the project already years late, why all concerned do not make a real effort and get it started. Not only are the labor people suffering, but businesses, and the taxpayers are also effected," he said.

"In addition, the Stewart Project is being delayed simply waiting for the Environmental Impact Report, a report that is to determine the future of Stewart Field, and is reported to still be weeks or months away. It doesn't add up, and I wonder if there isn't some pressure exerted to purposely delay same," Weyant continued.

"Why the state agencies responsible for confiscating the thousands of acres and several homes, and who have failed to clear all the requirements in addition to having a definite program for the use of the airport, have not been brought to task by the incument Republican State Senator Richard E. Schermerhorn is unfortunate," he said.

New Rail Line Headed This Way

WASHINGTON

A new, experimental passenger railroad route connecting Boston to Chicago via Albany has been approved by the U.S. Department of Transportation, Rep. Benjamin A. Gilman (R-26th), reported.

Gilman, who supported initiating this expanded rail service for New York State, noted that it will be operated for at least two years under the provisions of the Amtrak Improvement Act of 1973, which requires Amtrak to select one experimental route each year.

"Hopefully, this new rail service, if successful, will be extended into the fast-growing Southern Tier region of New York State," Gilman concluded.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices opened lower today in slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.40 at 792.47 shortly after the opening. Declines led advances, 103 to 98, among the 306 issues crossing the tape.

Rising interest rates have forced many investors to the sidelines in recent sessions. Trading has been extremely slow and with the market opening after the fourth of July holiday, analysts said things should be dull.

It was expected the record 12 per cent prime rate—that charged by banks to their key corporate customers — established by several banks Wednesday would spread.

Legislators Face Salary Hikes, Property Sales

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Ulster County Legislature has been mandated to increase the salary of its county, Surrogate and two Family Court judges by $6,000 each, but it is carrying out that state order reluctantly.

The legislature is going on record as being opposed to the practice of the State mandating pay increases for local officials . . . "and construes such practices as being a usurpation of municipal responsibilities."

In a resolution to be acted upon at the Thursday, July 11 meeting of the board in the County Office Building, the Judicial and Legal Committee agrees to pay the increase with compensation provided for in the state supplemental budget, but wants its state legislators to know that it disagrees in theory with the practice.

Ulster County's judges now receive $31,500 a year. With the increase they will receive $37,500 annually, retroactive to July 1 of this year.

The board will also be asked to offer the county's Gage Street, Kingston property for public sale. Formerly maintained by the county as a maintenance and housing facility for county highway equipment, it is no longer needed since the highway department consolidated its facilities at the quarry site off Hurley Avenue.

The Bridge and Highway Committee, after lengthy consideration has agreed to the sale and will announce the date in the near future, pending legislative approval. The premises will go to the highest, responsible bidder.

Three Wawarsing legislators, George Barthel, Louis Resnick and Eugene Houck have proposed that an environmental impact study be made by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation with regard to the proposed Geronimo Farms Housing Development in Sullivan County. They feel that the development may have an adverse affect on Town of Shawangunk.

Another attempt to reapportion the Ulster County Legislature is being presented by Esopus-Rosendale Legislators Glenn Debrosky and Louis Klein. They urge that the plan or plans be submitted for voter approval in the Nov. 5 general election.

The Legislature will also consider participation in Mid-Hudson Inter-County activities for matters of inter-county concern including studies of locations of power plants, transportation proposals or any land use or related items. This is to be done in connection with the county's participation in the Federal-State Comprehensive Planning and Management Assistance Program. The cost of the inter-county study to Ulster County is estimated at $2,400 of which $2,000 will be reimbursed by federal-state funds and the county will make a $400 contribution in staff services.

The board will also consider establishing a $50 petty cash fund for St. George's Park in the Town of Ulster, proclaim Volunteer Firemen Week for July 22, and enter into a maintenance contract for the county's two-way radio system.

It will also consider abandonment of Old County Road 51 known as the West Saugerties Road, Town of Saugerties and the granting of permission to execute an agreement for the guaging station on the Esopus Creek.

The Legislature will finalize plans for the "United Way Challenge," an Aug. 3 softball game at Dietz Stadium at 8 p.m. between the "Fiddlers Thirty-Three" and the "City Beats." United Way, which is about to celebrate its 20th anniversary has offered a trophy, to be known as the "Little Brown Jug" to the winners of the game which will benefit the United Way.

Driver Not in 'Good Humor'

WYANDANCH, N.Y. (PI) — An ice cream truck driven by a young man who apparently was not in good humor led four police cars and 12 fire trucks on a wild chase through this New York suburb Thursday night that ended up with five persons, including two policemen, injured.

Suffolk County Police said the chase ended only after the ice cream truck crashed through three roadblocks and rammed at least four fire trucks and one automobile.

Police said the incident began when John P. Wen, 22, threatened a girl with a wrench.

John Miller, an off-duty Suffolk County cop and also an assistant chief of the Wyandanch Fire Department, walked over and the suspect wheeled on him and slammed the wrench against his shoulder, police said.

Wen then ran to a nearby ice cream truck, driven by Victor Bartolotla, 22, and both sped off.

Miller jumped into his fire vehicle and chased them, radioing the county police and the Wyandanch, North Lindenhurst, and West Babylon Fire Departments for assistance.

During the chase, the ice cream truck slammed into an auto, throwing a passenger from the car and injuring him, passed three roadblocks and evaded the police cruisers and fire trucks until it was cornered 30 minutes later.

Wen jumped out and cracked Allan Goetz, also an off-duty officer, over the head with the wrench, police said.

Several Are Injured in Minor Mishaps

GARDINER

Car-bicycle mishaps on Thursday in the Town of Gardiner and in Rhinebeck resulted in injuries to two teenage boys. Elsewhere, several persons were injured in two separate car accidents in the village and town of Saugerties late Thursday.

Philip Tattersall, 13, of Gardiner was listed in critical condition today at Vassar Brothers Hospital in Poughkeepsie after he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle on Route 208 in the Town of Gardiner late Thursday afternoon.

The driver of the car, Guy McCord, 19, of Route 208, New Paltz was not issued summonses, state police said.

Injured in Rhinebeck was Ralph Eberhardt, 14, of Harleysville, Pa. The boy was listed in satisfactory condition today at Northern Dutchess Hospital. Police said the youth veered in front of car while riding on Route 308 and was struck when the driver, Leroy Mills, 23, of Hyde Park, was unable to stop in time. No summones were issued.

Five persons were reported injured in a two-car head-on crash late Thursday in the Village of Saugerties on Main Street.

Reported injured were the drivers of the two vehicles, Frank Abate Jr., 21, of Route 1, Saugerties, and Donald H. Schoonmaker, 22, of 130 Bruyn Avenue, Kingston, and Passengers Virginia Abate, 21, and Thomas Abate, 16, of Saugerties, and Karen Schoonmaker, 21, of 130 Bruyn Avenue. Several of the injured were taken to Benedictine Hospital by Saugerties Ambulance. Only one — Virginia Abate — was admitted to the hospital, however. She was in fair condition today.

Village Police said investigation of the mishap was continuing today, and were unable to give a complete description.

Meanwhile, Kathryn A. Johnson, 51, of 14 Robinson Street, Saugerties, was hospitalized late Thursday after her car was in collision with an auto driven by John J. Lack, 17, of 207 Washington Avenue, Saugerties on Blue Mountain Road. Her car was allegedly struck in the rear after she turned out of the Rip Van Winkle Camp Ground, police said.

Mrs. Johnson was listed in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital after being transported there by Saugerties Ambulance.

No summonses were issued, Town Police said.

Women in Army Reserve Doubled in '73

KINGSTON

The number of women serving in all branches of the U.S. Army Reserve more than doubled in 1973, it has been announced by Thomas F. Houlihan, administrative assistant of the 854th Engineer Battalion (Construction) here which is commanded by Major Frank W. Willett.

Houlihan said that women in the Army Reserve units across the country showed over a 100 per cent increase in enlistments last year.

"At the close of 1972 there were 1,678 women in the Army Reserve, including members of the Women's Army Corps (WAC), the Army Nurse Corps and the Army Medical Specialist Corps," Houlihan explained. "One year later, the number of women Army Reservists climbed to 3,916."

WAC enlistments in the Reserve during 1973 showed the largest increase. "At the end of 1972, 882 WAC's were serving in Reserve units," the Army Reserve commander said. "There were 2,917, or more than three times as many, WAC Reservists at the end of 1973."

The 854th Engineer Battalion has several women Reservists in the unit and has openings for several new recruits.

Houlihan pointed out that these women spend two weeks at Fort McClellan, Ala., for initial basic training instead of the regular seven weeks away from home. They complete basic training by attending unit meetings in their hometowns, usually on one weekend a month.

"After basic training, women who sign up for this program can receive promotions to specialist 4, or Specialist 5, and pay raises that can add about a thousand dollars to their income in the first year with the Reserve," Houlihan said.

Under the new program, the Army Reserve's 854th Engineer Battalion is actively seeking clerk typists, secretaries, information specialist, telephone switchboard operator, clinical specialist, diet cooks, draftsmen, surveyors and those with skills in various construction occupations.

In addition, Houlihan said that women without job skills who would like to obtain skill training in more than 30 different occupational specialities can receive their training through the 854th Engineer Battalion. The Reserve unit is looking for women who would like to learn drafting, surveying, military administration, supply, auto mechanics, engineer equipment repair, field medical care, radio operating, photography, welding, light and heavy truck driving and construction equipment operating.

"We would be happy to train qualified women for these jobs that will offer them substantial extra income with the Army Reserve and could lead to a rewarding civilian career as well," Houlihan said.

Houlihan said that women who would like to find out more about Army Reserve opportunities should contact the 854th Engineer Battalion at 144 Flatbush Avenue.

Notice is hereby given that the following proposed revisions in the Telephone Company Tariff pertaining to the Basic Service Index Plan have been filed, to be effective July 20, 1974, in compliance with Order of the Public Service Commission, State of New York, issued May 22, 1974 in Case 26370.

The Basic Service Index Plan (BSI) is a plan whereby subscribers to basic service will receive a credit on their bills for any month when certain technical measurements of the Company's local dial service in the subscriber's central office do not meet the criteria set forth in the Appendix to the Commission's Order.

1. Operation of the Plan

- a. The Company regularly measures the following BSI components: customer trouble reports, equipment irregularities, overflows, dial tone speed and incoming matching loss.*
  - *Incoming matching loss is not applicable in central offices served with Step-by-Step and Panel central office equipment.
- b. An individual monthly BSI score for the central office is determined from the above measurements of BSI components.
- c. The Commission in the aforesaid Order has established a "rate adjustment level" for said BSI score and a "component failure level" for each component of the BSI score.
- d. Subscribers in a central office are eligible for credit in any month when all of the following conditions exist:
  - 1) The central office BSI score in the current month is at or below the rate adjustment level established by the Commission.
  - 2) The central office BSI score in one of the two preceding months is at or below such rate adjustment level.
  - 3) Two or more of the central office BSI components listed in 1. a. preceding are at or below the component failure level established by the Commission in each of the two contributing months.

2. Regulations for Application of Credit

- a. A credit of $1.50 per central office line will be applied to the subscriber's bill subsequent to any month when the conditions described in 1. d. preceding exist.
- b. The credit will be applied only to the bills of subscribers having service from such central offices on the billing date of the particular central office in the month for which credit is given.
- c. The credit will not be prorated.
- d. Subscribers to private line service, and service at Exhibitor Locations and subscribers whose service is temporarily suspended at their own request as of the billing date for the particular month for which credit is given will not be eligible for the credit.
- e. Public coin telephone service is not eligible for such credit.
- f. The sum of the credit given under these rules and any out-of-service credit shall not exceed, for any billing period, the monthly local service charges for that period for the subscriber's central office lines.
- g. For Centrex-CO service, the $1.50 credit shall be applied to each primary station billed to the subscriber.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES

Notice is hereby given that the following proposed offering of the new COM KEY* 718 System has been filed with the Public Service Commission to be effective August 1, 1974.

The COM KEY 718 System is a key telephone system with a capacity of 7 lines and 18 telephone instruments. All instruments are multi-button desk type telephones, each equipped to pick up all the lines terminating in the system. The lines appear in the same sequence at each instrument.

The basic features of the system are pick-up, hold, winking hold illumination, two dial intercommunicating paths, voice signaling, tone ringing, button restoration and multi-line conferencing.

The optional features of the system are privacy, privacy release, paging, music-on-hold including background music-over-paging, station restriction, power failure transfer, night transfer, pre-set conference, attendant consoles and TOUCH-TONE® Calling Service (subject to availability of facilities).

The COM KEY 718 System is furnished under two rate options, designated Option 1 and Option 2. Under Option 1, the monthly rates for the service and facilities apply as long as the facilities are in service. These rates are subject to rate changes. A minimum charge of 12 months applies for the common equipment.

Under Option 2, the monthly rates for the service and facilities consist of two parts, "A" and "B". The "A" part of the monthly rates in effect on the date of installation of the service will apply without change for a period of 4 years from that date. The "B" part of the monthly rates will apply, subject to change, for the life of the installation. Termination charges specified in the Tariff apply to service and facilities furnished under Option 2.

If the provision of COM KEY 718 facilities to new subscribers is discontinued, service to existing subscribers who have had the service for eight years or more may be discontinued.

March To Protest Death Penalty

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A crowd that police estimated totaled about 4,000 persons marched without incident through the North Carolina capital protesting the death penalty.

Black militant Angela Davis, who cochairs a group that calls itself the National Alliance Against Racist and Political Repression, led the Independence Day march. It was held to spotlight the state's Death Row population, highest in the nation.

Miss Davis estimated that the crowd totaled 10,000 persons.

In addition to protesting the state's Death Row population of 45—almost half the nation's total—the march Thursday called attention to the state's total prison population of more than 12,000, highest per capita in the nation, and to statistics showing that fewer North Carolina workers are in labor unions than in any other state.

After meeting at a downtown auditorium, where marchers were welcomed by Raleigh's black mayor, Clarence Lightner, the crowd walked to the Capitol.

Miss Davis and the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference spoke to the crowd at the Capitol, then the march moved on, past Central Prison where men condemned to die are housed.

Other speakers included Clyde Bellecourt of the American Indian Movement.

The prime cause of tension during the march was a group of 12 pickets from segregationist groups including the American Nazi party, the Ku Klux Klan and the Rights of White People.

There were jeers at the segregationists but no incidents.

Fall and Winter Issue

Ward Catalogs on the Way

CHICAGO, ILL.

Providing money-saving values for today's cost-conscious American consumers is a major theme of Montgomery Ward's 1974, 1,380-page Fall and Winter general catalog now being mailed to more than six million families in all 50 states and territories.

"This new catalog offers quality merchandise at highly competitive prices," says S. W. Allred, Ward's vice president and catalog merchandise manager. "In addition to our presentation of more than 100,000 items, we have added more instructive information than ever before to assist consumers in their buying decisions."

As examples, Allred citied diagrams and guides for "do-it-yourself mechanics" to tune up their own autos for better gas mileage, how to select the right battery and the right kind of tires, a list of safety precautions for using power tools, and formulas for determining the proper home heating or cooling system based on construction, insulation and geographic location. There are detailed instructions for the care of various fabrics in terms of washability, sun and water resistance, and shrinkage factors.

To help shoppers spot particularly outstanding values for their money, Wards features "Best Buys" in which a limited number of items are awarded this designation after intensive review and comparisons of merchandise.

"Chill Chaser" fashion items and warm winter underclothing to help consumers stay comfortable and warm while turning down thermostats this winter.

An emphasis on interchangeable "mix 'n match" fashions.

Solid-fuel heaters to ease the load on home furnaces and attendant high fuel bills, and 11 pages of fireplaces and accessories.

A three-door refrigerator with a small, special section for most often-used foods; less cold escapes, thus saving electricity.

Insulated draperies and window shades that help shield against the cold in winter and heat in summer.

Space-conscious families can find ways to utilize every inch with products like the stackable "laundry twins" or a compact washer and dryer each only 21 inches wide. Ward's trash compactor applies 3,000 pounds pressure to squeeze even bones and bottles up to one-sixth original volume.

"A great convenience and time-saver for consumers is Ward's new compatible color system. Designed to take the guesswork out of selecting go-together colors, this number-code system applies to all home furnishings items — sheets, bedspreads, towels, pictures, lamps, fabrics, carpeting, tile, draperies, furniture, paint The system applies to items found in Ward's retail stores as well as in the catalog."

The compatible color system eliminates the problem of changing color names over a period of time. Each item has been given a three-digit number as well as a color name. Colors within the same 10-number range (for example 130 to 139) will always be compatible.

A Montgomery Ward store in Kingston, N.Y. is located on Ulster Avenue Mall and Boice's Lane.

PROUD OF THEIR COMPANY — Roy Ochsen (L), driver for Burgmeyer Bros, Inc., and Herbert Tyrrell, manager of the motor freight carrier's Newburgh terminal, display their new company flag. It was purchased by the terminal's drivers as an expression of pride in their company and flies with the American Flag in front of the Burgmeyer Company at Orr and Union Avenues. The terminal, employing 40 persons from the Newburgh area, is one of 19 terminals Burgmeyer operates from Boston to Baltimore and west to Pittsburgh and Chicago. Drivers are members of Local 445, International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Woolworth's '74 Outlook

DENVER, COLO.

The F. W. Woolworth Co. remains "guardedly optimistic" about 1974, chairman Lester A. Burcham told shareholders here and the year will see the company "comfortably passing the $4-billion milestone in consolidated sales, just two years after breaking the $3-billion level."

Although the percentage sales increase for the first quarter, ended April 30, was less than the company had budgeted, Burcham said that May sales results were in line with 1974 projections. "May sales showed a 15.9 per cent gain over 1973," he reported, "which is the largest monthly increase so far this year."

Also, sales during the later part of March and all of April were up to the company's expectations but gains during the total first quarter were affected by slow sales during the first six weeks of the period, the chairman said.

Profit contributions at the store level within the consolidated company were up during the first quarter, he said, but Woolworth's over-all expenses also were higher. "Interest expense, for example, was considerably higher than anticipated, and was the prime factor contributing to the decline in income of the consolidated companies." Profit contributions at the store level in Woolworth's British subsidiary declined from last year and affected the parent company's share in the earnings of this operation.

The Woolworth chairman attributed the British company's earnings decline primarily to higher operating costs, brought about by inflation, and to the effects of the three-day work week that was in effect in England during the first quarter of the year. England's higher statutory rates of income tax, up from 47.5 per cent in 1973 to 52 per cent in 1974, also had an effect on the British company's earnings during the first quarter, he said.

Reviewing 1973 results Burcham reported that Woolworth experienced a 21.2 per cent increase in per share earnings over 1972 — $3.15 per share compared with $2.60.

"This increase resulted from $67,606,000 in income from our consolidated companies and $25,868,000 in income from our equity in F. W. Woolworth & Co., Limited, Great Britain. The total 1973 net income from these two sources represented an 18.1 per cent increase over income of $79,165,000 in 1972."

The Kinney Shoe Corporation, which according to Burcham in 1973 produced the greatest sales and profit period in its 79-year history, last year opened a total of 166 units in the U.S., Canada and Australia, in addition to a new factory in the U.S. and one in Canada. At the end of the fiscal year this company was operating, 1,481 retail units and 11 factories.

F. W. Woolworth operates two stores in the Kingston, N.Y. area — one at 311 Wall Street and two other in the Ulster Shopping Plaza, Ulster Avenue Mall.

Po'keepsie Savings Orders

POUGHKEEPSIE

The Poughkeepsie Savings Bank has introduced Payment Orders a service totally new to saving bank customers in the Hudson Valley.

Thomas J. Norton, president of the bank, in making the announcement noted that New York State banking laws now permit savings banks to offer Payment Orders to their customers. "Now we are offering our customers a consumer-type checking account," Norton said, "as well as accounts for savings that earn the nighest rates allowed by law in the nation—all at one bank."

The service provides customers with a monthly statement and personal accounting forms for bills paid out.

After checking statewide savings banks, Norton said, "because of our specialized computer programs we are the only savings bank between New York and Buffalo able to offer Payment Order accounts at this time."

The Poughkeepsie Savings Bank also has offices in the Mall at Hyde Park and the Hudson Plaza

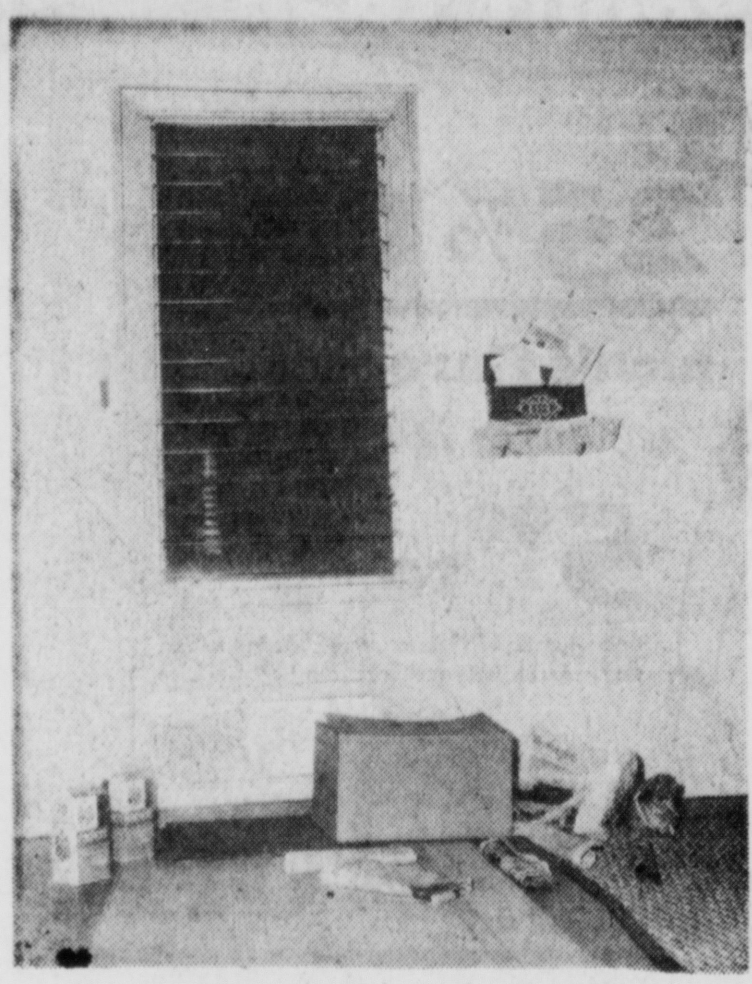
Effective Ways For Thwarting Burglaries



A TIP-OFF THAT NO ONE IS HOME

By MATT SPIRENG

KINGSTON

You've been away for a nice, relaxing weekend trip with the family. But as soon as you pull into the driveway, you notice something is wrong.

The garage door is open; it was closed when you left. Inside, the lawn mower and tools are missing. You rush to the house to unlock the door and get to a telephone – and the back door is already unlocked. There are marks on the wood as if someone pried it open. And things are missing from the house, too. Gone are the stereo, the clock radio, the quarters you kept in a jar on the dresser, the strongbox, with important papers.

You have become a burglary victim.

But take heart, if you can; you're not alone. National statistics show that one burglary is committed every 13 seconds. In the City of Kingston, some 142 burglaries have been reported to police since the year began.

"There's no doubt burglaries are a major problem, not only in Kingston, but all across the country," said Police Chief Julius M. Glassman.

"But while this department and all police agencies are alert to the problem, many burglaries go unsolved," Glassman said.

"Our department has to patrol over 100 miles of streets and it is often just by chance that they pass a home or business at the time a burglary is being commited. Still, there is much that can be done to reduce the problem, particularly if the citizens cooperate," he said.

"The most effective way to reduce burglaries is for the residents to make sure their own homes and businesses are as burgler-proof as possible, and for them to be on the watch for suspicious persons or actions in the vicinity of neighboring homes or business establishments," the Kingston Police Chief said.

"When a person goes out, particularly if he's going to be gone for a weekend or longer, he should take particular care to make sure the house looks like there is still someone there," Glassman suggested.

"Automatic timers hooked up to turn lamps on and off at the usual hours are one good way to make a burglar steer clear," Glassman said.

He also suggested having all deliveries cancelled if a person takes an extended trip. "Newspapers, mail or milk bottles piled on the porch tip off the burglar that there's no one home," he said.

"It's also a good idea to let a close neighbor or the police know you're going to be gone so someone can keep an eye on the house," Glassman suggested.

He also suggested keeping the garage doors closed. "An empty garage not only can be burglarized, but it is also a tip-off that there is no one home."

Of course, adequately locked doors and windows and burglar alarms also help cut down on the problem, according to Glassman.

"Since burglaries by definition don't usually involve a victim who was present to identify the thief, it is particularly important that we get citizen cooperation to solve the crimes," Glassman said. "The best bet for catching a burglar is alert neighbors.

"Of course, evidence at the scene also helps," the Chief said.

"Another aid would be if all residents kept detailed lists of the items they own, particularly small appliances which are frequent targets of burglars," Glassman said. He pointed out that very few people take advantage of the use of a vibrating marking pencil available at Police Headquarters which would make it easier for police to identify and trace stolen items.

"Since most burglars are repeaters, they eventually get caught," Glassman said. "But more citizen cooperation would not only reduce burglaries, but result in quicker arrests and the closing of a greater number of unsolved cases."

ART OF SPINNING — Mrs. Edward Karabec of Ulster Park demonstrates the art of spinning to Gretchen Daum, camp counselor of Camp Wendy, the official Girl Scout camp. Observing the process are Girl Scouts Dina Beadle (L), Mecedes Karabec and Robin Beadle. Girl Scouters will learn more about spinning this summer during the camp sessions. Carding wool and spinning it on a handcrafted spindle will be included in the encampments emphasizing Your Heritage and Your World. After the wool is carded and spun, the yarn will be used for knitting, crocheting, weaving or needlepoint. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Port Ewen 26 Campout

PORT EWEN

Boy Scouts of Port Ewen, Troop 26 recently braved the chilly spring weather to go on a weekend campout at the Woodsland Valley Campsite.

The troop left Friday night under the leadership of Gordon Craig, Scoutmaster; Skip Vincent Assistant Scoutmaster and Sill Serrano.

The troop was divided into two groups. Group 1 consisted of younger, inexperienced Scouts. They camped at the foot of Slide Mountain under the watchful eye of Scoutmaster Craig. They worked on badges and advanced rank. Boys in this group were Pat Bennett, Tim Donnelly, Chris Fischer, John Reynaud, Chris Roch, Scot Serrano, Charlie Spader, Chuck Vincent and Mike Werner.

Group 2 consisted of the older more experienced scouts. They included John Bowman, Curt Bradley, Mike Bradley, Randy Crego, Mike Donnelly, Dave Ebel, Rudy Schlicting and Steve Tremper. Under the leaership of Skip Vincent and Sill Serrano, Group 2 hiked Wittenberg Mountain, Cornell Mountain, and finally Slide Mountain, making a total of 14.6 miles. It was agreed by all that the view from Slide was beatiful. They also reported that the weather was chilly and snow was seen in some spots. They camped out on the top of the mountain overnight and headed back down early Sunday morning.

The troop returned to Port Ewen Sunday afternoon.

Troop 26, also participated in the recent annual Onteora District Spring Camp-O-Ree. This was held at St. George's Camp on Flatbush Road, Glasco.

Leaders in charge were Skip Vincent, assistant scoutmaster and Ralph Donnelly, committeeman. Scouts who attended were Pat Bennett, Mike Bradley, Mike Donnelly, Tim Donnelly, Ralph Dudy, Dave Ebel, Chris Fischer, John Reynaud, Scott Serrano, Charles Vincent and Mike Werner.

Panther Patrol, under the direction of Patrol Leader Dave Ebel, won third place in the High Jump Contest, third place in the 100 yeard dash, and 1st place in the shot put contest.

Mike Bradley, Patrol Leader in charge of Beaver Patrol, brought home second place in the High Jump contest.

Grothkopp-Krom Nuptials Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Grothkopp of Mountain View Road, Tillson, announce the marriage of their daughter, Karen Louise, to Richard H. Krom, St. Remy, son of Raymond T. Krom Sr. of Russell Road, Hurley, and the late Rita Krom.

The Rev. John H. Frenssen of Poughkeepsie and Florida officiated at the ceremony at Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Kingston. Assisting was the Rev. Alvin F. Messersmith of Kingston. Brett A. Edler provided wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown of white nylon dotted Swiss over taffeta with a high neckline and sheer yoke. Dotted Swiss ruffling accented the neckline, bodice and hemline. The gown featured an Empire waistline. Her white picture hat was trimmed with matching dotted Swiss ruffling and featured a bow and streamers of dotted Swiss. She carried a colonial bouquet of white daisies, miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. Wayne MacDonald, sister of the bride, Kingston, served as matron of honor in a gown of blue nylon floral print over taffeta. The gown was similar in styling to the bride's with scooped neckline and ruffling at the neckline and hemline. She wore a blue picture hat accented with matching floral print and carried a bouquet of blue and lavender daisies with baby's breath. The gowns and hats were made by the bride's mother.

* * *

Raymond T. Krom Jr. of St. Remy was best man for his brother. Ushering were Philip Karkowski of St. Remy and Walter Fowler of Branchville, N.J.

A reception was given at the home of the bride.

The bride, a 1970 graduate of Kingston High School, was graduated in June from Hartwick College, Oneonta. She is employed at Benedictine Hospital.

Her husband, a 1969 alumnus of KHS, was graduated from Clinton County Community College in Plattsburgh, and is also employed by Benedictine Hospital.

After a wedding trip to New Hampshire, the couple will reside in St. Remy.

Robin Ann Ellsworth Weds Kingston Man

MRS. DAVID J. PROCKUP
(Robin A. Ellsworth)

St. Joseph's Church, Kingston, provided the setting for the wedding of Robin Ann Ellsworth, 168 Wrentham Street, Kingston, and David J. Prockup, 144 Harwich Street, Kingston, on Saturday, June 29.

The Rev. Alfred R. Pizzuto officiated at the double ring ceremony. James Sweeney, organist, provided traditional wedding selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ellsworth of 168 Wrentham Street, Kingston, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Diana Prockup of Main Street, Esopus.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a satin-faced organza gown fashioned with an empire bodice, high sheer neckline, long, full cavalier sleeves and an A-line skirt. Hand-clipped peau d'ange lace in floral motifs accented the gown, and scalloped lace bordered the wide hem. Her cathedral length lace edged mantilla was attached to a lace crescent headpiece and she carried a single long stemmed white rose.

Robin Chmura, Birch Street, Kingston, was maid of honor. Attendants were Lynn Ellsworth, sister of the bride; Kathy Chmura and Mrs. Beverly Rigney, all of Kingston. Miss Danielle Wilhelm, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

The attendants wore rainbow colored gowns in shades of peach, yellow, green and lilac. The embossed organza gowns were styled with backless halter ensembles. The bodices featured deep front V effects. The ensemble effect was created by abbreviated jackets of matching fabric.

All attendants carried daisies and baby's breath.

Donald Prockup of Delmar served as best man for his brother. Ushers were William Ellsworth, Daniel Ellsworth, both brothers of the bride of Kingston; and James Prockup, brother of the bridegroom, Hyde Park.

A reception was held at The Hedges, West Park.

The bride, a 1972 graduate of Kingston High School, is employed by Cook and Tucker, P.C., attorneys-at-law, Kingston. Her husband, a 1970 alumnus of KHS, attended Ulster County Community College. He is employed by Waldbaum's, Route 9W, Kingston.

After returning from a wedding trip to New Jersey, Mr. and Mrs. Prockup will reside at 144 Harwich Street, Kingston.

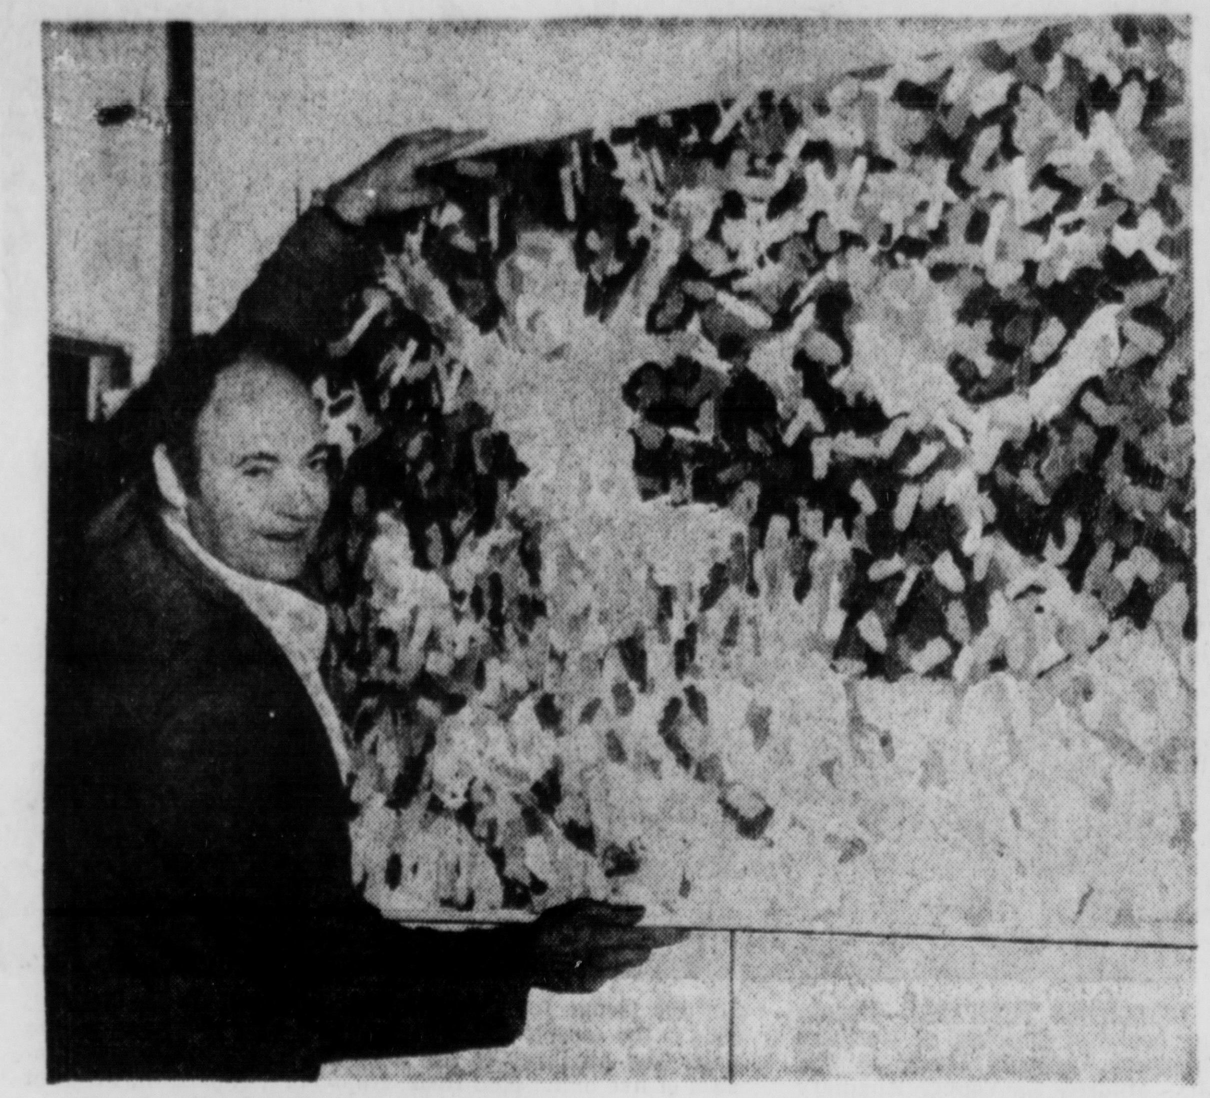
Holiday Show at Jarvis



PHILLIP SCHREIBMAN, master of the heavy impasto, palette-knife techinique, is pictured hanging one of his works in Jarvis Gallery, Woodstock, where he is featured in a one-man exhibition. The show, which opened to the public officially on June 29, may be viewed through July 12 on Thursdays through Sundays from 1 to 6 p. m. Schreibman, whose work has been shown on Madison Avenue, is a resident of Woodstock. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

A one-man show of recent paintings by Philip Schreibman opened in Jarvis Gallery, 2 Broadview Road, Woodstock, on Saturday, June 29. The show, featuring the work of this Woodstock resident, will be held through July 12th.

Mr. Schriebman has exhibited his painting both here and abroad. He was represented in the London International, Salon de Juvisy, France, International Festival Club, Phoenix Gallery, Philadelphia Museum and Springfield Museum Expo.

His works were also on exhibit in the Portland Museum, Silvermine Guild, Fairleigh Dickinson University, Rhode Island Arts Festival, Phoenix Gallery and Ward-Nasse Gallery in New York.

About Schreibman has been written: "The heavy impasto, pallette-knife technique he employs allows him to express more freely the feeling of motion. Discordant colors and sweeping staccato-like strokes generate the 'illusion of movement,' a concept that has occupied Schreibman for many years."

Born in Boston, Mass., Schreibman spent most of his life in New York City where he attended the Art Students League. He is a member of the Phoenix Gallery, a co-op, and for the past 16 years has occupied a studio in So-Ho where he is a member of the Ward-Nasse Gallery.

Two years ago, Schreibman and his wife purchased a house in Woodstock. His wife is Anne Hebard of the Anne Hebard School of Classical Ballet in Woodstock.

The Schreibman show may be viewed Thursdays through Sundays from 1-6 p.m. at Jarvis Gallery.

Also held over for exhibit in Jarvis Gallery is the bronze sculpture, "Ideal Head," by Elie Nadelman. Those who visit the Museum of Modern Art in New York or attend performances at the New York State Theatre, are familiar with Nadelman's works for two of his monumental pieces preside over the promenades.

Trudy Jarvis, gallery director, told The Freeman she is currently negotiating with the National Gallery in Washington, D.C., which is interested in purchasing the bronze Nadelman head in her gallery.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Regarding that "Double Ugly" guy who says ugliness is a curse because no one wants to associate with physically ugly people. You said, "Ugliness — like beauty, lies in the eye of the beholder. The qualities that make one loved and wanted have nothing to do with the way one's face is formed. Honesty, patience, kindness, generosity — all the virtues — can be developed. A beautiful character counts for more with people who count than physical beauty."

Abby, you missed the whole point. This ugly person should seek out the blind for friends. He should volunteer to help in a school for the blind, or get a job there.

They say if a deaf lion roars in the desert, there is no sound. Nothing looks ugly to those who cannot see, so forget all that rot about developing honesty, kindness and a beautiful character, and give the poor guy some practical advice. He might find what he's looking for in the world of the sightless.

PRAGMATIST

DEAR PRAG.: Who says: "If a deaf lion roars in the desert, there is no sound?" Just because the lion can't hear the sound he makes, doesn't mean it's nonexistent.

To suggest that physically ugly people should seek out the blind in order to be loved is an insult to the sightless. Although they are unable to see physical ugliness, they are better able to "see" those qualities which are far more intrinsic to a person's real worth than physical beauty.

So if a physically ugly person has an ugly character, he should stay away from the blind — for they may "see" him better than those with 20-20 vision.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to Double Ugly: I have never met an ugly person I didn't like. They have personality plus!

When I was a young girl, I learned the little fellows with the big freckles and the stringy red hair that hung in their yellow-green eyes were the ones to ask a favor of. The handsome guys were too busy thinking about themselves.

Mr. Ugly, I like you already, for you have shown a lot of character and humility by asking for help with your problem. That is beauty right there! So you see, you aren't as ugly as you thought you were.

ONE WHO KNOWS

DEAR ABBY: When I first saw this nurse, I said to myself: "That has got to be the ugliest woman I've ever seen!" She was shaped like a pear, had a pockmarked complexion, an enormous nose and buck teeth, and she wore thick glasses.

But an hour later, after watching her work with disturbed children, and observing her gentle, patient, kind, loving personality, I completely forgot about her looks.

Everyone who knew her adored her. She had the disposition of an angel and a way of bringing out the best in people. If I had to name the most beautiful woman I've ever met, I would have to say that nurse wins, hands down.

CAPTIVATED

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

"THANKS TO YOU it's working in Ulster County," is what Dick Fredenberg, executive director of United Way told 27 Freeman employes who volunteered their services for the newspaper's annual Fashion Premiere held early this spring. Fredenberg, who was accompanied by Mark Kachigian, presented each with a personalized mug bearing the United Way insignia. According to Dorothy A. Narel, general coordinator of the fashion shows, Freeman employes have consistently donated their services in behalf of United Way. They lend their special talents to such areas as artwork, modeling, printing, stage construction and assistance the night of the show. This is in addition to the excellent community-wide copperation received, the Freeman woman's page editor states. Among the first to receive their United Way mugs from Mr. Fredenberg were, front (L-R) Florence Brinkerhoff, Pat Butler, Rosemary Casey; rear (L-R) Agnes Campbell, Alice Reilly and Ruth Kuriger. Doing the Right Thing

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to the writer, who asked that her name be withheld.

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband has been retired for ten years and we have been spending winters in a travel trailer. We have made many good friends from all over the country, as lots of them have gone to the same trailer court with us over the years.

Last winter, exploratory surgery revealed that my husband had a terminal malignancy. Friends and neighbors had all asked to be advised of the outcome of the surgery, yet all seemed shocked by the news, and I felt that I had exceeded the bounds of good taste by my frankness.

We are very close to many of our vacation friends, writing and visiting through the year, and it seems so cruel to suddenly read or hear of the death of a friend and never have known of his illness. I'd like to write and tell them of his condition, but I'm doubtful about doing it after the reaction to my truthfulness about his surgery.

What would be the kind and thoughtful way to handle this? I hesitate to send a letter bearing sad news, as I have read letters should not be sent unless they bring happiness and good cheer.

Mrs. V.M.

Dear Mrs. V.M.: There is no "rule" to fall back on, but personally, I believe that you should write your closest friends and tell them about your husband's condition. As you say, it will save them the shock of seeing or hearing the news when they had no idea of his illness. It will also, to some extent, alleviate their worry about you, knowing that you have been forewarned, and able to prepare yourself for your husband's death, insofar as possible.

As for those who seemed shocked by your frankness in telling them the results of the surgery, I would not worry. It was natural for them to be horrified, and even at first to think to themselves, "I wish I hadn't asked." But in the long run, they, too, will admire your strength and be grateful for your honesty.

Chris Wins; Rosewall, Connors Advance

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Chris Evert of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. became the youngest girl in 22 years to win the women's singles of the Wimbledon tennis championships today when she overwhelmed Olga Morozova of the Soviet Union, the first Russian to reach the finals, 6-0, 6-4.

The 19-year-old second seed and the well-built Russian physical education teacher are friends and doubles partners but no one could prove it by what went on in center court before the eyes of 15,000 spectators, including several members of the royal family, though they kissed when the match was over.

Chris was merciless in the brisk first set, driving Olga from side to side of the court with punishing forehands and backhands. And when Morozova came up to the net she was passed or lobbed back as an obstacle to Miss Evert's ambition to be the first woman since Maureen Connolly in 1952 to win the Italian, French and Wimbledon crowns.

Meanwhile, Ken Rosewall of Australia, two sets down and one point away from defeat came back in one of the great rallies of Wimbledon history today to beat Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C. and enter the finals of the men's singles 6-8, 4-6, 9-8, 6-1, 6-3.

Rosewall, a few months short of 40, and the oldest man in the singles, will meet 21-year-old Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill. tomorrow. Connors beat Dick Stockton of Port Washington, N.Y. 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4 and then said of his next opponent, "How do you play a legend?"

When fourth seeded Smith drilled a ball into the net at match point there was an explosion of sound from the capacity 15,000 in center court and the delight of the crowd, some of whom had queued up all night for positions, was echoed in the royal box where Princess Margaret, the Duke and Duchess of Kent, Princess Alexandra and others enthusiastically clapped hands.

Rosewall has been playing at Wimbledon since he was 17 and with three defeats in the finals is considered the best player never to win the title. There seems to be a feeling that this is his last real chance for the only major crown he has not won and the crowd were willing him to win from the first ball.

Connors, 21, has always been a loner but the other pros are angry at the law suit he's filed against Jack Kramer and Donald Dell, officers of the Association of Tennis Professionals — the players' trade union.

Stockton, of Port Washington, N.Y. was bidding to become the first unseeded player since Germany's Willy Bungert in 1967 to reach the final. For one set he appeared to be on his way but then his game fell apart.

Stockton, 23, started with a flourish when he broke for 2-1 in the first set, clinching the break with a great lob which had Connors hitting air.

Things looked black for Connors, a lefty, when Stockton, with another lob, broke for a 2-1 lead in the second set but little did the crowd know this was to be his last stand.

Connors, coming into the net now, broke back for 2-all and took eight straight games to take the set and lead 3-0 in the third.

Stockton, who has a tremendous power game, was in all manner of difficulties at this stage. Doublefaults flowed—he served eight in the match—from his racket and his normally sharp and decisive volleying deserted him.

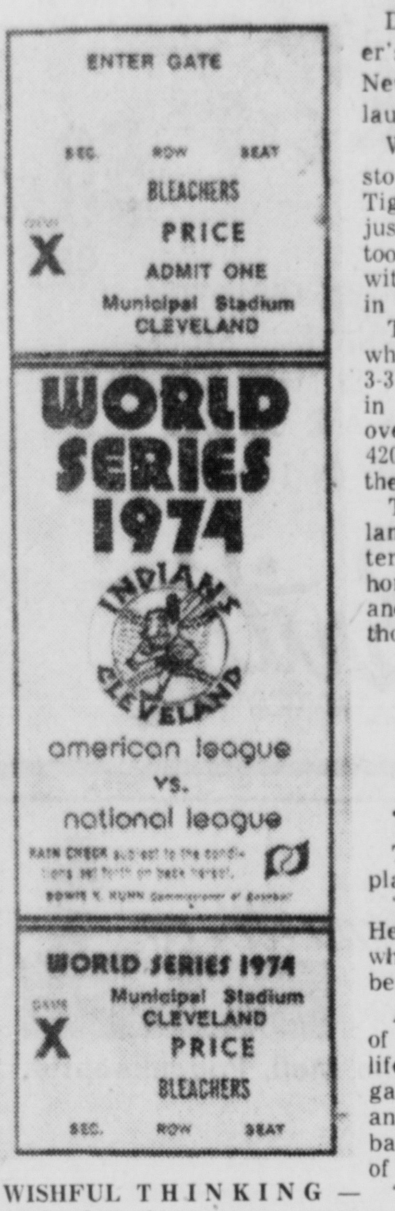
Connors reached 5-1 and it looked all over but he was broken to 15 when he served for the set in the seventh game. Two games later he wrapped it up when Stockton was wide with a lob.

Down two sets to one, Stockton opened the fourth set and lost his service to 30, serving a doublefault to 15-40.

In the next game Connors was hauled back to deuce but he got out of the jam with great serving and after that each man held comfortably.

Stockton summed up his defeat by saying, "It's like fighting Joe Frazier. He just throws everything at you all the time."

Yanks Find Reason to Celebrate



WISHFUL THINKING — Clevelanders have gone goony for the Indians in a sudden thrust which has boosted the home attendance to more than 500,000 and has the whole town thinking World Series. As a result, the team has already designated its prototype for a World Series ticket (UPI).

Sports

DETROIT (AP) — John Hiller's magic vanished and the New York Yankees' clubhouse laughter reappeared.

What was about to be another storybook finish for the Detroit Tigers instead became poetic justice for the Yankees as they took a 6-4 victory Thursday with a three-run rally off Hiler in the ninth inning.

The Tigers saw a 3-0 lead whittled away to 3-1, 3-2, then 3-3 before Jim Northrup—hero in Wednesday's 8-6 triumph over New York—blasted a 420-foot leadoff solo homer in the eighth inning.

The drive, off Dick Tidrow, landed in the upper right-centerfield seats and was his fifth homer in the last five games and the 10th run-batted-in in those same five games.

"Oh, not again," Yankee Manager Bill Virdon told himself, looking back to Wednesday when Northrup's two-out, two-run homer in the ninth off Sparky Lyle won the game for Detroit. Northrup hit a three-run shot earlier

But New York wasn't to be denied reason to celebrate Independence Day. The Yankees, whose comebacks were to no avail the night before, snapped a seven-game losing streak and Detroit's four-game winning string.

The Yankees were boisterous after the salvage job and now head into Texas on a high note to begin a four-game series. Rudy May, 1-1, is the New York probable starter against David Clyde, 3-4.

Detroit, which could have moved to within a game of American League East-leader Boston, instead dropped from third to fourth and remains two games behind. The last-place Yankees are seven games out.

The Tigers host Chicago today for a twi-night doubleheader. Joe Coleman, 6-9, who hasn't won a game since May 15, and Lerrin LaGrow, 6-7, are the Tiger probables, with Stan Bahnsen and Rich Gossage expected to pitch for the White Sox.

"It would have been easier to quit today than yesterday," Virdon said. "It's easy to get to the point where you say, 'What's the use.' You've got to stay away from that."

"Storybook finish, hell," Tiger Manager Ralph Houk said of the wasted heroics of Northrup. "It's the ending that counts."

Hiller apparently ran out of luck. Detroit led Wednesday 5-2 before the much-used southpaw relieved Mickey Lolich in the eighth. He promptly gave up an RBI single, sacrifice fly and two-run homer only to get credit for the victory because of Northrup's homer.

He relieved Jim Ray in the eighth Thursday and pitched out of a bases-loaded jam. But with one out in the ninth Elliott Maddox, Lou Piniella and Bobby Murcer hit successive singles to tie the score 4-4. Walt Williams added a sacrifice fly for his first RBI of the year and Otto Velez singled in the final run to doom Hiller to his sixth loss against 11 victories.

Lyle came on to pitch the ninth and immediately gave up a double to Mickey Stanley. The Tiger Stadium crowd of 15,058 roared when Northrup came to bat with two outs. He walked before pinch hitter Al Kaline struck out.

Tidrow, 6-8, was the winner.

"I'm just lousy," Hiller said, chastizing himself in the sullen Tiger clubhouse. "I've been lousy for at least three weeks. I don't know what's wrong. I feel good. I wish I could say I had a sore arm or something, but I don't."

Several of Hiller's triumphs this year have come after he couldn't hold someone else's lead but happened to be in the lineup after the Tigers caught up and went ahead.

Tidrow figured the Yankees would break out of their slump Wednesday.

"This is a carryover from last night," he said. "Now we know we can come back."

Detroit jumped to a 3-0 lead in the third. Ed Brinkman doubled and came home on Stanley's triple. Gary Sutherland hit a sacrifice fly and, after second baseman Fernando Gonzalez committed two errors on Ben Oglivie's two-out grounder, Gates Brown singled home run number three.

Gonzalez helped make up for the boots by getting the first hit off starter Woodie Fryman. His safety drove in one run after walks to Velez and Graig Nettles.

Later, singles by Bill Sudakis and Velez, plus a walk to Thurman Munson, forced Houk to pull Fryman and call for Ray. He gave up a sacrifice fly to pinch hitter Ron Blomberg as he stranded three Yankees.

Walks hurt Detroit again in the eighth. Ray walked Sudakis and Velez and Munson knotted the score 3-3 with a single.

Houk, who the night before said he felt sorry for Virdon after the Yankees' ninth inning loss, moaned that the breaks "even up...but quick."

No Place Like Home

There's no place like home plate for Mike Hegan.

"Everybody wants to play," Hegan says. "I think a guy who's satisfied sitting on the bench is not worth anything."

An uneasy bench rider most of his major league baseball life, Hegan played an entire game for a change Thursday and contributed a productive bat to Milwaukee's 15-3 route of the Cleveland Indians.

"It was like getting a birdie on the 18th hole," said a happy Hegan after driving in five runs with two homers. "You want to go out and do it every day. You look forward more to coming to the ballpark the next day when you do something like this, and that feeling ususally carries over for the next couple of weeks."

Hegan, a baseball vagabond, is making his second appearance with Milwaukee. Along with the Brewers, the first baseman has played with the old Seattle Pilots, the Oakland A's and New York Yankees.

He got into the game against Cleveland only because regular George Scott was injured.

In the other American League games, the New York Yankees beat the Detroit Tigers 6-4; the Baltimore Orioles trimmed the Boston Red Sox 10-6; the Chicago White Sox bombed the Kansas City Royals 11-3; the Minnesota Twins defeated the Texas Rangers 3-1 and the Oakland A-s turned back the California Angels 9-4.

Orioles 10, Red Sox 6

Bobby Girch drove in three runs, one with his 13th homer, as Baltimore rolled past Boston to sweep their three-game series.

White Sox 11, Royals 3

Bill Melton drove in four runs on a solo homer and two singles as Chicago whipped Kansas City.

Twins 3, Rangers 1

Larry Hisle's two-run homer capped a three-run rally in the ninth inning, carrying Minnesota over Texas.

A's 9, Angels 4

Vida Blue fired a five-hitter and Joe Rudi laced four hits, including a two-run homer, as Oakland completed a four-game sweep of California.

Phils Stop Feeling Sorry

NEW YORK (AP) — "We are starting to feel sorry for ourselves. We were laying back, waiting for the breaks to happen instead of making them ourselves. Everything was starting to go wrong at once. It's nice to win a game for a change—and to be able to take the win home with us," Philadelphia's Larry Bowa said.

It took nine games before the Phillies won one, settling for a split of a holiday doubleheader Thursday by beating New York 6-2 after the Mets had taken the opener 5-3.

Wayne Twitchell, in his first complete game since last August, gave the Phils the nightcap victory with his arm and his bat. He pitched a five-hitter—surprising not only himself but manager Danny Ozark because of the sticky, 90-degree heat—and singled to trigger a three-run eighth inning that put the game away.

"I was tired around the seventh inning," he said, "but I knew the guys needed a lift and that made me want to go the distance even more."

It was the second start of the year for the lanky right-hander who underwent off-season knee surgery and didn't begin pitching until late May. "In my first start, I also got tired around the seventh and I started trying to throw the ball even harder, which you just can't do.

"This time, I simply shortened my stride and stood more erect, and it worked," Twitchell added.

"He really showed me something, with the heat and that long layoff," said Ozark. "He's back in the rotation. He'll probably start next Monday or Tuesday against Los Angeles. But I'm still sticking with a four-man rotation."

That means somebody's going to be bumped—Steve Carlton, Jim Lonborg, Dick Ruthven or Ron Schueler.

Schueler was cuffed around in the Mets' first-game victory. Cleon Jones, who had three of New York's five hits against Twitchell, did the heavy damage in the opener.

He followed Felix Millan's double with an RBI single in the first inning, then hit a three-run double in the third. Jon Milner later hit a homer to cap the Mets' scoring.

Bowa hit a run-scoring triple in the first inning of the finale and came home on Bill Robinson's fly ball. Philadelphia locked it up with the big eighth, highlighted by Mike Schmidt's two-run single.

"When you get in a good groove, every pitch is a good one to hit," said Jones, who was 8-for-15 with nine runs batted in against the Phils and 19-for-42 with 14 RBI in an 11-game streak that has raised his batting average to .284.

"I've found my 'hitting circle' again," he added. "I know what my hitting circle is. Once you get outside it, you can't hit those pitches. That's how you have a slump."

The split left the Phillies third in the National League East, three games back of first-place St. Louis. The Mets are still last, 8½ games off the Cardinals' pace.

LA Out to Hold Lead

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers are out to prove they're not riding a bicycle built for two collapses in a row.

"Down with the Big Red Machine," said second baseman Dave Lopes after a two-run ninth-inning rally Thusday that produced a 3-2 victory over Cinncinnati and droppped the defending National League West Division champion Reds a whopping 9½ games behind the runaway Dodgers.

"This is the year of the Little Blue Bicycle," Lopes added, referring to the Dodgers' color. "We blew it last year and we haven't forgotten. It won't happen again."

Los Angeles' biggest lead over the second-place Reds a year ago was 8½ games on July 17.

In other National League action Thursday, the Chicago Cubs edged the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2, the Montreal Expos nipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 in the opener of a doubleheader but dropped the nightcap, 3-2, the Philadelphia Phillies lost thier opener to the New York Mets 5-3 and then ended an eight-game losing skid by taking the nightcap 6-2, the Houston Astros shaded the Atlanta Braves 4-3 in 10 innings and the San Francisco Giants trounced the San Diego Padres 9-2.

Cubs 3, Cardinals 2

Rookie Andre Thornton's double keyed a three-run fourth inning and Chicago held on to beat St. Louis.

Expos 2-2, Pirates 1-3

Richie Zisk doubled home the tying run in the eigth inning of the nightcap agaisnt rookie Dennis Blair after an intentional walk to Willie Stargell, and Bob Robertson followed with a game-winning sacrifice fly.

Pepe Frias drove in the deciding run for Montreal with a fluke double in the seventh inning of the opener.

Astros 4, Braves 3

Cesar Cedeno doubled home the winning run in the 10th, off Tom House after a leadoff single by Roger Metzger.

Giants 9, Padres 2

Gary Matthews hit a tie-breaking two-run homer in the fouth inning, Ed Goodson drilled a three-run shot in the seventh and Tom Bradley registered his first victory since June 4.

Roach Wins

ATLANTA (AP) — Wayne Roach of the Atlanta Track Club led more than 800 runners in a rainy 6.2-mile race through the streets of Atlanta Thursday.

Roach won the race with a time of 30 minutes and 48 seconds. The first five finishers received trophies and portable television sets.

HAPPY WINNER — Firecracker 400 winner David Pearson gets a victor's kiss Thursday after edging Richard Petty at Daytona International Speedway. (UPI)

David's Trick Works

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Roaring into the final lap of the Firecracker 400, David Pearson took his foot completely off the throttle of his Mercury, allowing a startled Richard Petty, who was riding right on his tail, to "slingshot" past into the lead.

The maneuver apparently rattled Petty, the Randleman, N.C., racing millionaire. "It's just not like David to do a trick like that," said an angry Petty after the race.

But the trick succeeded and Pearson rode Petty's bumper into the final turn, cut to the inside and passed Petty's slower Dodge just 1,000 yards from the finish line to win his fourth Firecracker at Daytona International Speedway Thursday.

"He usually drives a safer, saner race than that," Petty said. "It could have been that I would have run into him. That's how close it was. Even if he had blown an engine he would have thrown up his hand to let me know what was happening."

Pearson and Petty sparred verbally in the post-race news conference, Petty claiming that the trick endangered both drivers' lives and Pearson maintaining he did what he had to do to win.

"I let him go by," said Pearson. "I knew if he was running second I could draft him."

Pearson recalled how Petty tried to cut him off in the last 1,000 yards, forcing Pearson almost onto the infield grass as the Spartanburg, S.C., driver shot past Petty to win by three-quarters of a car length.

"I thought he was going in the pits," said Pearson. "If he had went in I would have went in right beside him."

Pearson picked up $18,100 for his 27th superspeedway victory on the Grand National tour for NASCAR. His win broke the record of three victories at the July 4th race held by the late Glenn "Fireball" Roberts, who died 10 years ago.

Petty won $10,925 for second place, the third straight year he has been the runnerup at this race which he has never won. But Petty has won four times in the February Daytona 500.

Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., and Buddy Baker of Charlotte, N.C., finished in a dead heat for third place. The speedway photo finish camera, which shoots about 300 frames per second, showed Baker's Ford and Yarborough's Chevrolet exactly even crossing the finish line.

Race officials called it a draw and awarded $6,087 to Yarborough and $5,912 to Baker, who is returning to NASCAR racing after a long hiatus.

Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., copped sixth place followed by Lennie Pond, Petersburg, Va., Jackie Rogers, Wilmington, N.C., David Sisco, Nashville, Tenn., and Cecil Gordon, Horseshoe, N.C. All five drove Chevrolets.

Donnie Allison of Daytona Beach, Bobby's younger brother, had to withdraw his Chevrolet from the race after 77.5 miles when his engine overheated.

The average speed for the race was 138.302 miles per hour, far below the fastest average speed of 167.247 m.p.h. set by Yarborough in 1968. There were six caution flags spread over 41 laps.

Crowd estimates for the $115,000 Firecracker, richest 400-miler in NASCAR history, ranged from 45,000 to 60,000.

Unser USAC Winner

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — The first 100 mile dirt-track race at the New York State Fairgrounds since 1962 saw teammates Al Unser and Mario Andretti finish one-two Thursday.

Averaging 93.872 mph in his Foyt-Ford, Unser garnered the $10,000 first prize in what was the first of a five-event series for the USAC dirt track championship. Fairgrounds officials said he ran out of fuel on the final lap and coasted across the finish line before the 12,000 fans.

Greg Weld was third. Weld and Andretti, who set a track record 112 mph in the qualifying runs, also drove Foyt-Fords.

In all, only 12 of the 24 cars which started the event finished. On the 93rd lap of the race one car slammed into a wall and on the 46th a tire flew off another. Neither driver was injured.

Wolf, Schroeder Distance Winners

KRIPPLEBUSH

Richard Wolf of New Paltz, a third place finisher a year ago, withstood the heat and humidity Thursday to win the 4th Annual Marbletown Road Race in a time of 11:45.

A contingent of 23 runners lasted to the finish line of the 2.3 mile course with Coleman High School's Eric Schroeder, sixth in the open race, taking the Town Division run in 12:59.

Wolf, a member of the Onteora Runners Club, posted an eight-second victory over David Senechalle, also of New Paltz. In third position was another ORC racer, Barry Hopkins, who crossed in 12:03.

Kevin Post, also of Coleman, took fourth for the second straight year in 12:25. Art Stegen, fourth in this race in 1972, was fifth in 12:35.

In the Town Division, Rondout Valley High's Brad Davenport was the runnerup in 14:21. He beat third place Dr. Ted Grenda who rambled in in 14:50.

Race director Larry Skalla noted the course record of 11:13 set by John Cabell in 1972 was well protected by the weather. Skalla was pleased with the strong turnout, almost 320 runners entered the race.

Wolf is the fourth champion in the four years the race has been held. Craig Hubbell won the first run in 1972 but was unseated a year later by Cabell's record. In 1973, Steve Shallencamp took first while Wolf finished third. The course begins at the Kripplebush firehouse and extends along Pine Bush Road to the Marbletown School.

Sneed Leads GMO

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "Of course," Ed Sneed said, surveying the scoreboard that showed him three shots clear of the field in the $130,000 Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament, "you start thinking about winning.

"It's the thing that come to mind. It's almost impossible not to think about it. But there's another 36 holes to go. I've got to just try and play as well as I did the first two rounds."

Sneed, riding a hot putter that has taken only 55 strokes in two rounds of play, put together a five-under-par 67 in Thursday's second round and extended his lead to three strokes midway through this chase for a $26,000 first prize.

His 133 total, 11 under par, was within one stroke of the best 36-hole total of the year on the pro tour, and left him well ahead of former Masters champion Tommy Aaron, alone in second with a pair of 68s and a 136 total.

Cesar Sanudo followed with 68-138 and Bob Zender with 70-139.

Lee Trevino moved into contention with a 69—despite a double bogey five—and was tied at 140 with Dave Hill, Churck Courtney and Curtis Sifford.

Hill's 67 matched the best round of the windy day on the 7,010-yard, par-72 Tuckaway Country Club course. Courtney had a 69 and Sifford 72.

Sam Snead, still a challenger at age 62, had another 71 and a 142 total. Hubert Green, a three-time winner this season, also was at that total after a second-round 70.

Sneed, who scored the only victory of his six-year pro career last fall in the Kaiser Open, chipped in from 30 feet for a birdie on his first hole, which, he said, started him off.

Saint Farm

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — The Minnesota Fighting Saints of the World Hockey Association Thursday named the Johnstown, Penn., Jets of the North American Hockey League as their farm team.

Last season, Saints minor leaguers were assigned to the Sun Coast Suns team at St. Petersburg, Fla., until that club was disbanded midway through the season.

WEBB DIES — Del E. Webb (shown in 1964 photo), real estate magnate and former co-owner of the New York Yankees, died Thursday at Methodist Hospital in Rochester, Minn. Webb, 75, joined Dan Topping in purchasing the Yankees and the partners never had a profitless year with the club which they sold to CBS in 1965 for $14 million. Topping died recently. (UPI)

Grand Circuit Race To Spitfire Hanover

GOSHEN, N. Y. (UPI) — Spitfire Hanover co-owned by Arnold Palmer and Whitey Ford, won Thursday's Grand Circuit Dickerson Cup for 3-year-old trotters.

Spitfire Hanover trotted the mile in 2:03 with another part owner, Del Miller, driving, in the second heat to annex the $10,000 stake. Spitfiire, prepping for the coveted Hambletonian Stake on Aug. 28, finished six lengths ahead of Journalist, reined by Bill Haughton, and paid $2.80.

The race was decided on a best two-heat placement, with the fastest clocking for the mile dashes prevailing in equal placements. Journalist edged Spitfire Hanover by a half-length in the first heat where the clock was 2:08-1-5 for the mile. The win, only mutuel in the first heat was $5.20. In both dashes Farforth, guided by Elbride T. Gerry, Jr., was a distant third.

Lantern won the co-feature Ladyship Stake for 3-year-old pacing fillies, by winning the second heat in 2:01-4/5 for the mile. She paid $3.60. Lantern, driven by Glen Garnsey, finished second to Hilarious Lynn, in the first heat.

Miller Lobell, a longshot, put on a strong stretch drive at Roosevelt Raceway to win a $17,500 tortting feature, the richest race in New York State on the Fourth of July.

World Cup Final Set

MUNICH (AP) — Sunday's World Cup soccer final will not exactly be a confrontation between Munich and Amsterdam, but for most of the 80,000 spectators at the Olympic Stadium it will seem like it.

More than half of the West German team plays for the Bayern Munich club and are local heroes. Most of the Dutch team has starred for Ajax of Amsterdam and are local favorites in the Dutch port city.

Munich residents will turn out in force for the game, by far the biggest sporting occasion in the city since the 1972 Olympics. Thousands of Dutch, mostly from Amsterdam, will stream south down the autobahns to cheer their players.

Seeking reasons why West Germany and The Netherlands are the two best teams in the tournament, most analysts have pointed to the club spirit which is the nucleus of both teams.

Among the West Germans, goalie Sepp Maier, defenders Franz Beckenbauer, Paul Breitner and George Schwarzenbeck, midfielder Uli Hoeness and striker Gerad Mueller play alongside each other in the Bayern lineup weekly through the German season.

On the Dutch team, defenders Arie Haan and Wim Suurbier, midfielders Ruud Krol and Johnny Neeskens and winger Johnny Rep are Ajax men. Johan Cruyff, the captain and Dutch superstar, used to play for Ajax too, until he was sold to Barcelona in the Spanish league. But the Dutch fans still think of him as an Amsterdam player.

In addition, Dutch team manager Rinus Michels coached Ajax to the European championship. He now coaches Cruyff at Barcelona.

NFL Veterans' March on Rookie Camp Ineffectual

By RAY MEANS

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Action in the National Football League player strike got much heavier Thursday as veterans attempted to march to the San Diego Chargers' rookie camp.

The march failed, but a meeting was permitted later.

Three players' representatives had been given permission to go to the camp to speak with rookies about player demands. When the time came to go to the closed meeting, about 10 veterans walked through the entrance to the United States International University rookie camp site.

They walked about 100 yards before being stopped by security guards, who also called police. The players spoke with Chargers' attorney Stacey Sullivan for several minutes and then disbanded at the urging of their executive director, Ed Garvey.

While the representatives met with the rookies, veteran Chargers tight end Pettis Norman said the stopping illustrated what the strike was about.

"The same prejudice and restraining inflicted on us is what they will be subjected to," he said.

He said the rookies were being prevented from attending the meeting with the veterans by use of previously unscheduled work sessions.

"Yesterday they showed them the Chargers highlights of 1973," he said. "You have a better chance to start with the Chargers if you don't mention the 1973 season."

After the closed meeting, the Chargers' management allowed the newcomers to walk to the campus entrance to talk informally with veteran players.

The rookies and veterans broke into groups for conversation and mingling, but there was no indication of concerted action or decisions being made. Afterwards, the rookies went to the drill field.

Chargers' owner Gene Klein, before the entrance meeting, accused the strikers of scare tactics.

"The rookies are free to talk," he said. "But they must obey the rules of the camp. We have curfews, but they are ordinary rules."

Klein emphasized the NFL clubs would play the 1974 season as scheduled, especially with the World Football League offering competition.

"We're not going to shut down the store and let them have all the business," he said. "There's no way in the world we're not going to play the season as scheduled with the best players we can."

Asked about a diluted product, Klein pointed out the Chargers have a new coaching staff, are coming off a horrible season and have a new system.

"We might have a reverse situation where the rookies will be the veterans and the veterans the rookies," he said.

He said he felt a little ambivalent because if everyone had to go with their rookies, "We'd have a hell of a shot at the Super Bowl."

The strike, which began Monday, concerned 63 demands made by the players association. The old contract expired Jan. 31, and the players were seeking, among other things, the ability to deal with whatever team they want rather than being bound to any one team.

Wiggie Leads Accuracy Test

WOODSTOCK

Mrs. A. J. (Wiggie) DeLisio, the club champion, won a rare net tournament at Woodstock Country Club, posting net 74 to win first place in the Accuracy Tournament. Under the rules, one stroke penalty was added when a player was off the fairway, in a sand trap or took more than two putts on a green.

Mrs. DeLisio played the round without a penalty, carding 41-42-83. She had nine handicap. Alice Marr had net 77 with three penalty strokes, as did Margaret Barnard with six strokes.

Other leaders with penalty strokes and net scores were: Inger Rusk (6), 79; Gloria Allen (8) 80; Helen Dendy (25) 80; Hulda Needes (61) 81.

Patti Draiss Winner Twice

HURLEY

Patti Draiss picked up two wins for Hurley Mountain Inn in the Hurley Girls Softball League. First, she combined with Linda Grubiak on a 2-hitter to rout Conti's Insurance, 15-1. Then she spaced eight hits to beat Hurley Corner Store, 11-2.

Linda Grubiak collected seven hits in the two games, hitting three singles and a triple against Conti's and a triple and two singles against Corner Store.

Denise Pasqueriello hit four singles against Conti's. Michelle McLane had two doubles and a single. Sandy Sauers and Midge Fiore hit three singles.

Joanne Johnson had three singles and Midge Fiore a double and two singles against Corner Store.

Demolition Derby Saturday

DeGraff Seeks Fourth Win

KINGSTON — The national Demolition derby championship at Islip, Long Island, is to the crash-and-bang artists what the Indy 500 is to auto racing and Le Mans to road racing, as any car buff knows.

But Islip, despite its national exposure on ABC-TV's Wide World of Sports, holds no fascination for Ted DeGraff of Kingston, the undisputed Demolition Derby champion in Ulster County.

DeGraff, a 25-year-old Callanan Road Improvement employee, has won all three derbies held at Dietz Stadium the past two years and will be on hand Saturday night in quest of his fourth straight win.

A field of 40 rivals, including one woman driver, Ora Freer of Kingston, will challenge DeGraff in the fourth derby sponsored by Kingston Community Baseball, sponsors of the Kingston Braves in the Hudson Valley Rookie League.

"I've seen it a couple times," says DeGraff, referring to the Islip classic, "but I don't have any desire to compete in it, even though I think I could make a good showing. It takes a good sponsor, money and a lot of help to make it to Islip."

DeGraff, who competed in stock racing at the Accord track for a couple seasons, has been involved in demolition derbies since 1966. "I'm not involved in any other sports," he admits, "but I find the annual derby a real challenge." He will be going with his trusty 1966 Dodge Coronet Saturday night. "It's a tough old car," he points out, "but I expect it to hold up again."

Thirty one of the 41 drivers in the field are Kingstonians. There are two entries from Saugerties, two from Connelly and others from scattered parts of Ulster County. The competition is restricted to county drivers.

The drivers:

Kingston — Harold Lemister, Don Fisher, Dennis Leone, Bob Hobart, Ed Felter, John Watzka, Bob Benkert, Riche Cantwell, Ernie Bodie, Ken Dolan, Tom Yonta Jr., Richard Longendyke, Vince Micari, Ted DeGraff, Andy Hamilton, Marty Carr, Dave Hughes, Colonial Lincoln-Mercury.

Also, Steve Lowe, Mike Andrews, Rudy Maisch, Ora Freer (only woman); Tom Gleason, Art DeGraff, Ray Linchinsky, Charlie Potter, Robert Sickler, Garry Sutton, Bill Wolfe, Ray Venuti.

Saugerties — Len Gokey, Kevin Doyle.

Connelly — Manny Suarez, Bill Liese.

Highland, Bill Cherry; Ulster Park, Frank Lancer; Lake Katrine, Richard Amell; Bloomington, George Montgomery; Olivebridge, Charles Hummel.

AL Babe Ruth Juniors Win Twice at Beacon

BEACON — The Kingston American Junior Babe Ruth All Star team advanced to the semi-finals of the All Star Tournament here Thursday by defeating defending champion Beacon, 3-2.

The Americans took advantage of nine Beacon errors to pick up their second win of the week. Earlier, the Kingston squad downed Poughkeepsie, 5-1 on a five-hitter by Dave Loeffler.

Beacon grabbed a 2-1 lead over the Americans with two gone in the fifth and forced starter Pete Gallagher into retirement. Al Johnson then came on to choke off further Beacon scoring with a hitless 2⅓ innings of relief.

Johnson became the winner as the American scrapped back to tie it up in the bottom of the fifth and go ahead in the sixth. The Americans will face Saugerties in the semi-final round.

The opening tournament victory was an easier one for Kingston. Poughkeepsie jumped in front with an unearned run in the first, but Loeffler yielded nothing after that.

The Americans got even in the second as Kevin Jordan hit his way on, stole two bases and came in on Joe Kelderhouse's single. In the sixth the Americans put it away with a three run burst. Al Johnson drove in two, and Bill Merica knocked in one to deal Sal San Filippo the defeat.

Loeffler fanned eight and walked four and lasted the distance. Johnson paced the hitting with three hits in four trips.

Cosmos Trip Diplomats, 3-1

NEW YORK (UPI) — Randy Horton scored two goals Thursday to lead the New York Cosmos to a 3-1 victory over the Washington Diplomats in a North American Soccer League game.

Horton opened the scoring in the 10th minute with a boot into the upper righthand corner of the Washington net, but the Diplomats came back to tie the score in the 57th minute on a goal by Alan Spavin.

Four minutes later Horton scored on a header to put the Cosmos ahead for good, and New York rookie Carlos Scott added an insurance tally with his first goal only 15 minutes from the end of the game.

The victory marked the first time this year the Cosmos have picked up nine points with a triumph.

Four Young Girls Held by Police

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI — Four young Rochester, N.Y. girls, originally thought to have been kidnapped, were being held by authorities here today for their alleged roles in a prostitution ring, and police said one of them may have been involved in a murder.

The girls, aged 12 through 15, contacted their parents in Rochester Monday, saying they had been abducted and brought to Colorado to take part in the prostitution ring.

However, authorities now speculate that the girls willingly ran away from home with two men two weeks ago to join the ring. The girls left the Rochester area with two men now being held as part of the ring.

Meanwhile, one of the unidentified girls was now believed to have been involved in a murder.

According to authorities here, a 13-year-old girl lured James Haberkorn, 17, of Colorado Springs, to a rented house last weekend for the purposes of engaging in sex. However, the couple was interrupted by two men and a woman in an apparent robbery attempt. During the scuffle, Haberkorn was shot in the right eye, and died Thursday night in St. Francis Hospital.

In Rochester, Det. Capt. Andrew Sparacino said it is believed the girls concocted the kidnapping story and contacted one of their families after they learned that Haberkorn was near death.

In addition to the four girls, authorities were holding a total of six persons, including two U.S. Army members stationed at Ft. Carson here, in connection with the prostitution ring and Haberkorn's slaying.

City Model T Comes Home From Ford Trip

KINGSTON

Gus Lovy and his 1924 Model T are back in Kingston; their 1,325 mile trip to Dearborn, Mich. and back passed without incident.

And a hundred Model T buffs, who never doubted for a moment that the old car could stand up to the rigors of the trip, are saying, "I told you so."

Lovy and his car, objects of a recent Freeman feature story, traveled to Dearborn for what amounted to a convention of Model T owners. They were there to bid farewell to the soon-to-be-closed manufacturing plant that produced most of the famous Model T's.

Lovy and his wife left Saturday, June 29; traveling at a steady 30-35 MPH, they arrived in Dearborn at 11 a.m. Tuesday. They spent three days touring Dearborn and the Ford facility there. They began their return trip last Saturday, and arrived home on Tuesday.

"We didn't have a bit of trouble," said Lovy, "the car ran like a charm all the way. I brought along about 200 pounds of spare parts and tools, but didn't have to use a single thing."

For Lovy, it was the longest trip he's ever taken in the Model T. The car has more than 50,000 miles on the odometer.

One Remains Missing in Boat Fire

NEW YORK (AP) — One man was missing and two others were saved after a cabin cruiser on the Hudson River burned down to the waterline Thursday night, Harbor Police said.

The boat, "The Hole in the Wall" had a mechanical failure and then caught fire, the survivors told police. The third man apparently drowned, police said.

The incident took place at 6 p.m., about 1½ miles north of the George Washington Bridge. Rescue craft reached the burning cabin cruiser a short while later, police said.

Police said the wife of the dead man has not been notified and that no names would be released pending the notification.

Saturday, July 6

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You won't have much difficulty swaying those you come in contact with to your way of thinking if you use your charm and wit.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Goals that are important to you will come more effortlessly over the next few days. So will money.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Situations that call for the use of imagination and creativity will be your cup of tea today and tomorrow.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your mate will look favorably on your requests for material needs, provided your approach is well-timed and clearly stated.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Much of value can be accomplished if you ally yourself with the proper teammate whose aims parallel your own interests.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) There's a favorable change underway. It will ease some of the strains that have been affecting your work or career.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Some good news you'll be receiving shortly will erase the memory of any setbacks you may have suffered this week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) You're very adept in getting lots of mileage out of your household budget. Keep looking for those bargains.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you stand back a little you'll get a much clearer perspective on your problems. Trust your own answers at this time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Money will be coming to you from two sources. One is a usual channel. The other is quite unexpected.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll begin to feel more independent and in control starting today. This is the time to push forward, while the breaks come easier.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't be stiff-necked about letting another go to bat for you if she offers to. It won't damage your image one bit.

This will be a year when other are apt to do you more favors with less strings than they have in a long time. Be grateful to your benefactors.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

100 POUNDS: (Q) I am overweight by about 100 pounds. My mother always says, when I eat and ask for more, "Soon I'll just get a sheet, put three holes in it, and let you wear it for a dress."

That depresses me and I eat more. I want to lose weight. I want my doctor to give me diet pills, but my mother doesn't think he would. What do you think?—Fat Slob in Florida.

(A.) Your mother should encourage you rather than put you down. Ask her to help you lose weight. Ask her to go with you to your doctor to get a diet prescription.

Talk to him about pills. He may prescribe them for you or he may not. I am sure that even if he does he will also prescribe a diet. You cannot lose 100 pounds by taking pills. You must also eat less, and eat correctly.

In giving you the right foods in the right amounts, your mother can be of great help to you.

INVOLVED: I like Johnny a lot. But being involved as we are scares me. So does the idea of marrying him. There are two other guys I'd love to go out with, but I could never break up with Johnny. It would hurt him too much.

I can't even talk it over with him because he might take it the wrong way. So what should I do?—Entangled in Indiana.

(A.) Never hang onto a guy because you don't want to hurt him. You will hurt Johnny more by hanging onto him, because eventually he will find out you really don't want him and then the hurt will be worse than ever. Tell him now.

Opening lead—♠ K

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Anyone can see that three notrump is the right contract. Almost anyone can get there on the simple bidding sequence of one notrump—three notrump.

It is equally easy to see that South can make four notrump by playing East for both the king and jack of clubs and leading through him a couple of times.

It should be almost as easy to see that a good player would only make nine tricks. He would win the third spade lead and note that he would be sure of his contract unless West held the king of clubs. He would study a little further and see that he could also make it if West held the singleton king.

Then he would lay down his ace of clubs and continue with the 10 spot. He would have to lose tricks to both the king and jack of clubs, but he would wind up with two club tricks.

Since he was sure of one spade, two hearts and four diamonds those two club tricks would be enough for his contract.

Turmoil Threatens Divided Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — A left-wing militant group threatened today to take up arms in the first sign of possible turmoil in divided Argentina following an emotional state funeral for Juan Domingo Peron.

The Montoneros, a former guerrilla group that put away its weapons after Peron returned from exile, said it would resume urban warfare unless the "power vacuum" left by the president's death was filled.

The threat came hours after Lt. Gen. Leandro Anaya, the army commander, swore by the "body and immortal soul" of Peron to support the the late leader's widow, Maria Estela, Latin America's first woman president.

The general made his remarks at a funeral in which tens of thousands of Argentines braved heavy rain to shout final farewells to the 78-year-old strongman and shower his caisson-borne casket with flowers.

The body of Peron, who dominated Argentine political life for three decades, was placed in a chapel on the grounds of the suburban presidential residence following a 10-mile funeral procession.

It was the largest funeral in Argentina since the death of Peron's popular second wife, Eva Duarte, who died of cancer in 1952 after helping her husband win the support of the nation's working class.

Mrs. Peron, the president's widow and successor, led the funeral cortege, which was protected by 8,000 armed troops. There were no major incidents.

In a paid announcement published in Buenos Aires newspapers, the Montoneros demanded an "immediate formal agreement of the political and social forces interested in national liberation" to fill the void, which they say resulted with Peron's death Monday.

The militant organization said a failure to guarantee Peron's ideals would lead to an "arduous struggle to reach national and social liberation."

The Montoneros group was formed five years ago to battle against the former military government of Lt. Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania. The group ceased commando operations last October when Peron assumed the presidency for the third time.

Peron, who ruled Argentina from 1946 to 1955, returned last summer from nearly 18 years in exile. Despite attempts to unify the country, his term as president saw increasing clashes between his leftist and rightist supporters.

Arabs Discuss Israel, Retaliatory Raids

By United Press International

The Arab nations have decided to adopt a cautious policy in trying to curb Israeli reprisal raids, turning down militant proposals for stationing troops and warplanes in Lebanon.

Sources at a two-day Arab defense conference in Cairo said today the delegates adopted secret resolutions calling for extending military assistance as well as political and financial support to Lebanon.

The sources said, however, the resolutions at the conference, which ended Thursday, fell short of sending Arab troops or warplanes to Lebanon —as Egypt, Syria and Algeria proposed.

Israel launched retaliatory air attacks on Palestinian refugee camps in neighboring Lebanon after Arab terrorist attacks May 15 at Maalot in western Galilee and June 13 at the northern settlement of Shamir.

The defense and foreign affairs committee of the Israeli Kenesset (parliament) met Thursday in Jerusalem to review a guerrilla strategy study ordered after the Maalot attack.

Arab League Secretary General Mahmoud Riad told newsmen in Cairo the defense conference considered the Israeli attacks an "attempt to obstruct the current efforts aimed at the realization of a just and durable peace in the region."

He said the council resolutions pledged "solidarity with Lebanon in defending its land and national sovereignty and support the Palestinian people's legitimate struggle to regain their national rights."

Conference sources said the Lebanese were hesitant to accept offers of Arab troops or warplanes for fear of being dragged into a major military conflict with Israel.

Kissinger, French President Talk

PARIS (UPI) — President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, trying to move his government toward smoother relations with Washington, invited Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to breakfast today to talk over world policy issues.

Kissinger and Giscard d'Estaing agreed on an unusual 8 a.m. session to let the secretary of state continue a whirlwind European tour by flying on to Italy later in the day.

Elysee Palace officials quoted Giscard d'Estaing as saying he was anxious to keep his campaign pledge to improve U.S.-French relations, which were often rocky under his predecessor, the late President Georges Pompidou.

The meeting marked Giscard d'Estaing's first encounter with a member of the American cabinet since he was narrowly elected president May 19.

As Kissinger arrived to brief French leaders on the results of the U.S.-Soviet summit, both Paris and Moscow said French Foreign Minister Jean Sauvagnargues would hold talks with Kremlin leaders July 11-13.

Since the days of the late President Charles de Gaulle, France has been trying to balance each attempt at rapprochment between Washington and Moscow by seeking a parallel improvement of its own links with the Soviet Union.

Sauvagnargues' visit, which follows the just-ended summit between President Nixon and Soviet Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev, appeared to fall into the pattern.

Kissinger visibly sought to please the French in an arrival statement Wednesday by praising the "equality and independence" of the traditional friendship between the two countries.

Emergency State In Thailand

BANGKOK (UPI) — Army troops and police withdrew from the debris-filled streets of Bangkok's Chinese section today after two days of bloody riots forced Thailand's interim government to declare a state of emergency.

The violence Wednesday and Thursday killed 12 persons and injured scores of others. At least 50 persons were reported under arrest.

Tanks called out to protect government buildings rumbled back to their barracks this morning, leaving the streets empty of armored vehicles two hours after sunrise.

In the area around the Plabplachai police station, scene of the heaviest fighting, border police patrols pulled out and normal traffic for the Buddhist Lent holiday flowed throught the streets.

Burned out hulks of buses and cars commandeered by the rioters littered streets around the station. Chinese shopkeepers, however, opened stores as usual in the midst of the piles of debris and smashed traffic lights.

Lt. Gen. Narong Mahonond, the metropolitan police chief, said most of the fighting ended before dawn today, but he said there was still some sporadic sniping.

The state of emergency officially remained in force this morning and police stayed on alert after dispersing rioters who had roamed the area during the night.

Narong reported one policeman dead and five rioters killed in Thursday night's clashes. Other sources placed the toll in the Plabplachai station fighting at a minimum of 11 dead.

Narong blamed the rioting on teen-age hoodlums who had attended a mass rally in a downtown park Thursday night. The rally was organized by university students protesting American military presence in the country.

Prime Minister Sanya Dharmasakti said shortly before midnight Thursday the government's "moderate measures" had failed to quell the rioting and it was necessary to declare an emergency.

Sanya, who heads an interim government that replaced a military dictatorship last October, said authorities were "compelled to use drastic action to prevent the situation from worsening."

He said the government had "decided to use police and military to suppress the rioters immediately and normalize the situation."

It was the first time since the October uprising that troops were used in streets.
